A WORKING VACATION FOR HER

For most students, Easter means an 11-day vacation from the books. But for Rose Kolodychuk, 17, and about 15 of her fellow students at Kelowna Secondary School, the week is one of work. The commercial program students are working in various city offices from Tuesday to Friday to gain extra-curricular experience in the secretarial field. "This will give us experience in office routines, and maybe help us find summer jobs," claims the pretty grade 12 student, taking a moment out from duties at the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce office to soak up some Okanagan sunshine. (Courier photo)

NDP's Victory Proves 'Trudeau Losing Glitter'

OTTAWA (CP) — Recapture of Comox-Alberni by the New Democratic Party shows that Prime Minister Trudeau has lost some of his glitter, David Lewis, the NDP deputy parliamentary leader, said today.

Tom Barnett, the NDP candidate who lost the seat last June to Liberal Richard Durante, took it back in a narrow byelection victory Tuesday. The June election was ruled invalid over some miscount votes.

Mr. Lewis said it is difficult to defeat a man like Mr. Durante who had won the seat only a short time ago. Mr. Durante had worked hard in his brief time in Parliament and had considerable sympathy among the voters.

"It is an indication that the Trudeau bloom is gone," Mr. Lewis said in an interview.

There was no comment from Conservative Leader Stanfield on the byelection, strictly a two-way Liberal-NDP race.

But one Conservative official said privately that the byelection indicates the party is still not credible in British Columbia. The anti-Trudeau vote goes to the NDP because the people aren't aware of the Conservative party.

Prime Minister Trudeau is on a ski holiday. He did not campaign in the byelection, although NDP leader T. C. Douglas did.

Al O'Brien, the Liberal party's national organizer, said that Mr. Durante had a good organization "and did a pretty good job" in the face of the heavy NDP canvass.

In the next election, the party would have to crack through on the "beard" labor polls which went heavily NDP.

It was a tight race right through. Early polls showed Mr. Durante had an edge on Mr. Barnett, but as the campaign wore on, Mr. Barnett with the help of outside workers, overcame the lead.

Quebec's PM Gives Ottawa An Ultimatum

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand says the Union Nationale government would use a referendum against Ottawa, if necessary, to try to make Quebec's constitutional views triumph.

In a tape-recorded interview with The Canadian Press, the premier expressed his party's fundamental disagreement with Prime Minister Trudeau's one-Canada views, saying:

"I don't see how we can maintain Canada if we don't accept the idea of two nations."

Mr. Bertrand, away from the provincial capital on an Easter vacation, said the government is studying referendum legislation "across the board."

He said the study is not completed, but referendum legislation may be introduced during the present or next session of the national assembly.

Asked how such legislation would be applied, he said:

"The referendum can be used in two ways:

"Either to approve what we are doing, if we agree with Ottawa, or to ratify or confirm or approve our position if Ottawa does not agree with us."

He said a referendum could also be used to obtain the people's views on the work of the assembly's constitutional committee, supposing it "draws up a new constitution with major changes for Quebec."

FAVORS A REPUBLIC

The committee is working toward establishing an internal constitution for Quebec, whose government would like Canada to become a 10-state, two-nation republic.

The premier said the next provincial general election, which "normally should be held in 1970," will permit Quebecers to choose between independence and the new federalism sought by parties like his own.

"The next election will be a good method of consultation. The referendum itself will come next, but not in a year."

LABOR NEGOTIATIONS

Kelowna Strongly Denies That Vernon Fools The Bill

A flat denial of charges that Vernon has been fooling the bill for labor negotiations here was issued by Kelowna City Council Tuesday.

A one-sentence press release approved at the council meeting reads: "The newspaper reports attributed to the Vernon Municipal Council that the Vernon ratepayers have been helping to pay for the City of Kelowna's negotiations with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers since 1966 have been found, after full investigation, to have no basis in fact."

There was no indication in the release who did the investigating, or where. Attached were mimeographed copies of articles on the topic from both Kelowna and Vernon newspapers. Council members registered concern and puzzlement about the accusations from Vernon that came to light in mid-February.

Vernon council said it was paying "an unreasonable share" of Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association expenses for various bargaining sessions in Kelowna, including the session with the electrical workers who went on strike here for three months in 1967.

These costs, Vernon charged, were borne by other OMMAs communities as well as more recent costs accrued by Kelowna and R. S. Wilson, a Vancouver labor relations expert.

In February, Ald. E. R. Winter and city comptroller D. B. Herbert were appointed to look into what Mayor R. F. Parkinson called "pretty harsh statements."

Mr. Lewis said it is difficult to defeat a man like Mr. Durante who had won the seat only a short time ago. Mr. Durante had worked hard in his brief time in Parliament and had considerable sympathy among the voters.

"It is an indication that the Trudeau bloom is gone," Mr. Lewis said in an interview.

Serious Doubts Threaten NATO

Gunfire Shatters Mid-East Quiet

From AP-Reuters

Egypt said a second artillery duel flared across the Suez Canal late Tuesday, nine hours after a United Nations ceasefire stilled Egyptian and Israeli guns along the waterway.

The first duel lasted five hours. An Egyptian communiqué estimated Israeli losses at 40 killed and wounded, but the Israelis said four of their soldiers were wounded.

An Egyptian communiqué said the Israelis began firing across the canal again at 10:45 p.m., and the duel continued for 90 minutes.

"The enemy concentrated his fire at the Suez port of Taffik and south of Bitter Lake," Cairo radio reported.

"The Israelis tried to resume fighting in view of their huge losses in earlier clashes, but our forces responded immediately and silenced the enemy positions. There were no casualties among our forces."

The broadcast said fires were raging at Mousa Oasis, from where the Israelis allegedly began firing.

ROCKETS HIT ELATH

The Suez hostilities were preceded Tuesday by a Jordanian rocket attack on Elath, Israel's gateway through the Gulf of Aqaba to East Africa and the Far East, and a retaliatory air raid by Israeli jets on Aqaba, Jordan's only port on the Red Sea.

A Jordanian spokesman said the Israeli air raid was the heaviest attack on Aqaba since the six-day war of June, 1967.

Eight persons including four children were killed and nine others were wounded, the Jordanian official said.

Israel contended the jet attack was in reprisal for rockets fired at Elath at dawn, wakening the resort's 12,000 residents and 15,000 tourists. No one was killed during the 40-minute shelling, Israeli officials ascribed to Arab guerrillas.

Reviewing the new flareups, the authoritative newspaper Al-Ahram in Cairo warned that the clashes on the Egyptian and Jordanian frontlines brought the Middle East crisis to a "crossroad."

ISSUES A WARNING

The newspaper said either Israel must give up its "policy of continued and widespread aggression" or there would be an explosion of the extent of which no one could predict.

The fighting provided a gloomy backdrop for talks between President Nixon and King Hussein of Jordan, who began a three-day visit to Washington Tuesday. Hussein spoke about the "explosive situation" and warned that time is running out.

Meeting Thursday In Shadow Of Canada's Withdrawal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — NATO's two-day annual ministerial meeting opens here Thursday with the glittering ceremonial to celebrate the alliance's 20th birthday in sharp contrast to underlying grave concern over its future.

Canada's new self-defined role in the organization seems bound to have a psychological effect as the ministers plot NATO's course into the next decade.

Additionally, the new Soviet preoccupation with a hostile China and simmering restlessness among some member countries of the Warsaw pact—the Communist world's version of NATO—affect the world balance of power.

In the background also are the U.S. decision to enter into bilateral arms-control talks with the Soviet Union and President Nixon's new emphasis on negotiation rather than confrontation.

Canada's eight-man delegation will be headed by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp and will include Defence Minister Leo Cadieux and Gen. J. V. Allard, chief of the defence staff.

This is primarily a meeting of foreign ministers with the defence chiefs—who will hold their own NATO meetings in Brussels in May—in attendance with other advisers. The main alliance meeting of finance, foreign and defence ministers is held annually in December.

However, it is certain that Sharp and Cadieux will be under some pressure here to fill in some of the detail Trudeau left blank in giving the barest outline of Canada's future NATO role.

It also was considered a good bet that Sharp would at least touch on the subject in his address to the closed conference.

Other Nations May Follow

Prime Minister Trudeau said last week in announcing the proposed "planned and phased reduction" in Canada's 10,000-man contingent in Europe that it would be discussed in detail with NATO allies at the defence planning committee meeting in May.

Although the U.S. state department's official reaction to Canada's long-awaited decision was to welcome the fact she had at least decided to stay in NATO, there has been private concern expressed that the move might set off a chain reaction among other member countries.

Only last year, before the Soviet-led occupation of Czechoslovakia by her Warsaw pact partners, there was broad support in the U.S. Senate for a resolution calling for a considerable reduction in the strength of the 225,000-man U.S. force in Europe.

The Czech affair put an end to such talk, at least for the present. But barring a new Soviet clampdown there, or a similar adventure against Yugoslavia or Romania, there could be a resurgence of such opinion in the U.S. This would be especially likely if the financial and manpower demands of the Vietnam war continues unabated, as seems probable for some time.

The Canadian action, following the French decision in 1966 to withdraw militarily from the alliance, gives new emphasis to this thesis, which the European member countries will seek to counter in the two days of private talks.

Hockey Hall Of Fame Cracked And Some Top Trophies Stolen

TORONTO (CP) — The Hockey Hall of Fame was broken into here overnight and some of the top trophies in the game were stolen.

Lefty Reid, former sports writer and curator of the hall, said that missing are the Calder and Conn Smythe trophies from the National Hockey League and the original Hart trophy which was replaced about 15 years ago.

From the Sports Hall of Fame, which shares the building, Reid said "about 100 medals presented to Fred J. Robinson of Toronto, a famous speed-skater of the 1900s, were taken along with 40 medals from a collection of Dan Bain of Winnipeg, an old-time all-around athlete and captain of two Stanley Cup teams."

Thieves attempted to remove the Lou Marsh trophy, a five-foot marble column commemorating the late sports editor of the Toronto Star.

They removed the plain glass covering the trophy and cracked the glass doing it. They managed to move the trophy itself about 10 inches but couldn't get it out of the case."

Procedural Dispute Follows Heart Transplant Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Heart Institute wants to know whether guidelines for federally financed research were violated by the use of an artificial heart in an attempt to save the life of Haskell Karp.

Kept alive by the mechanical substitute for 65 hours, Karp, 47, of Skokie, Ill., then received a human heart from a Massachusetts woman but died Tuesday in a Houston hospital after developing pneumonia and kidney failure.

The Institute has spent about $300,000 of government funds developing artificial circulation devices since 1965.

A spokesman said Dr. Michael DeBakey was being asked to say whether the heart used on Karp resulted from research carried on under a program at Baylor University under DeBakey's direction.

If so, said Dr. Theodore Cooper, Institute director, its use was subject to the federal guidelines.

Meanwhile, Argentine-born Dr. Domingo Liotta, who devised the mechanical heart implanted by Cooper, said it was developed with funds from Cooper's Texas Heart Institute rather than federal money.

Cooper said Cooley would not be bound by the federal guidelines since he was not involved in the research project financed with government money, but added:

"I have asked Dr. DeBakey if the device used was made in his laboratory under grant support and, if that is the case, did they follow the regular guidelines prescribed."

A Jordanian army spokesman also claimed that Jordan and Israel exchanged fire in the valley.

Trouble-Shooter To Tour 7 B.C. School Crisis Areas

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ed Espley, the British Columbia education department's financial trouble-shooter, is to make a survey of the seven provincial school districts where defeats of referendums have threatened to bring critical cuts in school budgets.

Provincial Education Minister Donald Brocks said Tuesday in Victoria Mr. Espley will visit each of the districts over the next three weeks.

"He'll go over their budgets dollar by dollar and then he'll come back and tell us how their budgets can be cut or what assistance we should give them," Mr. Brocks said.

The minister said each one of the districts has an individual problem so there was no use sitting in Victoria trying to come up with variations.

Earlier Tuesday, the finance committee of the B.C. Teachers' Federation urged the repeal of the law requiring school boards to hold referendums before they can cut their budgets.

The committee also recommended to the federation's annual convention here that the BCTF:

- Oppose any legislation which depends exclusively on the province's cost-averaging formula for calculating grants to local school boards;
- Actively encourage each local teachers' association to set up working partnerships with its school board to study priorities and practices in the schools.

Bell Hopes To Up Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposal by Bell Canada to boost telephone rates will be put before the Canadian transport commission at a hearing opening May 20.

If approved, the increase will have its heaviest impact in Quebec and Ontario, the two provinces almost blanketed by Bell telephone service. But it is expected that some other provincial telephone companies will take similar action if the Bell bid goes through.

A three-member panel of the transport commission, under Pierre Taschereau, made a decision on the opening date of the hearing after a session Tuesday with lawyers from interested parties. This "pre-hearing hearing" was called to seek agreement on some ground rules for the main bout.

Ranged against Bell in that contest, expected to last at least a month, are the Quebec and Ontario governments and municipal governments in the two provinces, as well as other commercial interests such as Telephone Answering Service, the T. Eaton Co. and the Hotel Association of Canada.

Bell is seeking a rate increase that will mean about 40 to 70 cents more a month for a residential phone and $1.30 to $2.95 a month more for individual-line business rates.

Meanwhile, it was announced Tuesday that Donald B. MacKenzie, retired assistant superintendent of schools in Vancouver, has been given the BCTF 1969 award for the outstanding contribution to education in the province.

Mr. MacKenzie, who chaired the BCTF's 1968 commission on education which is being used as a basis for change in B.C. education recommended by the federation, was given the Ferguson Memorial Award.

Strike Reduces Railroad Runs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Central Railroad halted most freight and passenger service on its 11-state system today, several hours after the United Transportation Union hit the line with a sudden strike.

An Illinois Central spokesman said supervisors were trying to keep up shipments of food and other perishables. However, he said, two passenger trains still in operation would be taken out of service after completing their runs.

AROUND B.C.

Real Action For TV Crew

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two cowboys and a CBC television cameraman were injured and taken to hospital for treatment Tuesday night when the Pacific Coliseum Rodeo opened here. Eric Cable was filming the saddle bronc-riding event when a horse veered toward the centre of the arena, running him over and kicking him in the head. He was later released. Rider of the bronc John Holman of Kaycee, Wyoming, suffered a broken foot and another cowboy, Huey Vang of Okotoks, Alta., was taken for X-rays for a possible broken hip after being thrown in the bull-riding competition.

POLLUTION STUDY

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The Chamber of Commerce is to form a committee, probably during the next week, to carry out a study of, and possibly propose solutions for all forms of pollution that plague Prince Rupert.

THIEF CAUGHT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police patrolling the street caught a sneak thief who grabbed a hand full of bills from the counter in the foyer of the St. Regis Hotel here Tuesday night and ran out of the door. He was arrested and is expected to be charged later with theft. In another hotel incident, an unidentified man threw rocks through the back door and front windows of the Austin Hotel before running off.

BOGUS CHEQUES

KITIMAT (CP)—RCMP have alerted banks in northwestern B.C. that a ring of counterfeiters is cashing stolen Alcan Aluminium Co. Ltd. salary cheques drawn on the Kitimat branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. Police say at least 31 bogus cheques, totalling more than $6,000 have been cashed in Terrace, Prince Rupert and Smithers.

SENT FOR TRIAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Gordon McGarvey, 36, of Vancouver has been committed for trial after a preliminary hearing in suburban Surrey on a charge of possession of stolen property. McGarvey and Verne George Barnes, 34, of Cloverdale were charged with armed robbery after the Fleetwood Bank of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce was held up by two men and $35,000 taken. The charge against McGarvey was later reduced to possession of stolen property and he was freed on $2,000 bail.

BOY AIRLIFTED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Keith Comeau, 10, injured Monday in a fall from the Powell Lake Dam near Powell River, was flown Tuesday to St. Paul's Hospital here for treatment of head injuries. The boy was injured when he fell after climbing down to a sluice gate below the dam. He was swept about 150 feet along a sluice gate, then fell about 30 feet onto rocks.

TRAFFIC DELAYED

VANCOUVER (CP)—More new snow and the start of the spring runoff caused several traffic delays in the B.C. Interior Tuesday. Six inches of snow fell on the Salmo-Creston Highway and four inches fell at Allison Pass on the Hope-Princeton Highway. Several hundred feet of the Trans-Canada Highway was washed out, seven miles east of Chase in the Kamloops area but highway crews have restored one-way traffic.

Row With U.S. In Offing On Canada's Arctic Policy

OTTAWA (CP)—A major question now before the Trudeau cabinet is whether to declare the seas in Canada's Arctic archipelago Canadian internal waters.

If it does, there may be a row with the United States.

Canada's Arctic waters include the Northwest Passage—that is, the wide Farry Channel comprising Lancaster Sound, Barrow Strait, Viscount Melville Sound and McClure Strait.

Canada claims a territorial limit of only three miles, which in a channel or strait means six miles by counting three miles from either shore. But Farry Channel is much wider than six miles and is in effect a high seas route between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

A declaration that this channel and similar seas in the archipelago are internal waters would bring them under Canadian jurisdiction.

Though the Manhattan project is forcing a legal opinion by the Canadian government, the project will not be affected, officials said Tuesday.

Whether waters are international, territorial or internal,

there is still right of innocent passage for foreign ships.

The Manhattan is a 143,000-ton oil tanker now being built in the U.S. It will make an experimental voyage, probably in August, from the new oilfield at Prudhoe Bay on the north Alaskan coast to Europe through the Northwest Passage.

Canada is co-operating in the project—mainly to make sure that it asserts its Arctic presence.

The Manhattan will be accompanied through the Northwest Passage by the Canadian coast guard ship John A. Macdonald and the American coast guard's Westwind.

Officials said Tuesday the exact route will depend on ice conditions at the time. The Northwest Passage is open normally no more than two months in the year, but sometimes four months.

If the Manhattan project is successful, regular use of the Northwest Passage is open moving between the Atlantic and Pacific may be in the offing.

So far, Canada has maintained in its dealings with other countries, particularly the U.S., that the Northwest Passage is in effect Canadian because it has never been used as a commercial high seas route.

The Manhattan project likely will change all this, thus forcing the government to take a definite position, as Prime Minister Trudeau has promised it will soon.

An indication of the government's action may have been given Saturday when Fisheries Minister Jack Davis presented further government plans for defining Canada's 12-mile fishing zone.

Mr. Davis said the Gulf of St. Lawrence, 65 miles wide at its Newfoundland-Cape Breton mouth, may be enclosed as an exclusive Canadian fishing zone.

But he said it might not be desirable to close off the gulf as internal waters.

Presumably, if Canada did not declare a gulf internal waters, it would not so declare the Northwest Passage.

Prof. Donat Pharand of the University of Ottawa, an expert in this field, says that closing off the Northwest Passage would be contrary to international law.

SFU Senate Seals Doors To Strife

VANCOUVER (CP)—The by the radical organization Students for a Democratic University. The boycott was called as a protest against the closed-door policy of the senate, but most students continued with normal classes.

In another development, it was announced Tuesday that SFU students and faculty will vote Friday on a plan to set up a judiciary committee with powers to expel students or dismiss faculty members who disrupt meetings, classes or administrative processes.

The proposal was announced at a news conference called by Rob Walsh, student society president, and Dr. Milton McLaren, faculty association president.

The meeting, first under a new policy that bars students and the public, was carried via closed-circuit television to the SFU cafeteria. About 500 students watched.

Student senator John Conway had said Monday: "If 500 or 1,000 students show up... and decide they want to attend the meeting... we'll have to see what happens."

Mr. Conway, however, warned students Tuesday night before the meeting that they would be wrong to attempt to attend. "I have a distinct feeling we're being set up," he said. "We've got to be sure we can justify our position on and off the campus."

He later left the senate meeting to tell the cafeteria crowd: "It's clear they just wanted us to provide more ammunition they could use against us. They didn't get it. Nobody did anything and their plan got exposed."

Earlier Tuesday, SFU students ignored a "boycott classes" call

Lakeshore's Industrial Dream May Be Realized

Townhouses, parks, motor hotels and apartments, with small canals meandering throughout

The multi-million dollar dream for Kelowna's lakeshore industrial area might still be realized when Mayor R. F. Parkinson gets the federal government's word on its urban renewal policy during his April 24-25 trip to Ottawa.

However, if the urban development schemes all across the country are forestalled, as the government has indicated they probably will be, there is an alternative for Kelowna.

MORE BEACH

Under the original scheme, first disclosed November of 1967, the city would have acquired an additional half-mile of beach from the City Park to Manhattan point and east to Ellis Street, to develop as they saw fit.

If the government were to go ahead and approve the project, and many others like it across Canada, the urban renewal section of the National Housing Act provides for 50 per cent national government assistance, 25 per cent paid by the provincial government, with the city footing the remaining 25 per cent cost of the program.

A special feature of the urban renewal here and elsewhere was the availability of money to the communities involved at low interest rates from the federal government.

The present high cost of the government borrowing money itself is no doubt one reason for their expected final decision to scrap the whole idea for the time being.

The original idea included a deal for the City of Kelowna to make a land swap with the CNR and the CPR—their large parcels of waterfront land for land in the city's industrial area north along Highway 97.

However, last August the CNR, the largest land owners in the waterfront industrial area, announced they wanted to develop the land themselves by leasing it to concerns interested in building appropriate developments on it.

The city then had to be content with looking at the area from a projected boardwalk, which Mayor Parkinson said he hoped they would be allowed to build across the lakefront property.

ORIGINAL CONCEPT

Before the federal government announced it would discontinue its offer of financial help on the city renewal plans, Kelowna had been set to proceed as of the end of 1968.

Sept. 3 the city announced that within three months their plan would have been ready for submission for approval by federal and provincial governments.

The original concept projected a new harbor and floating breakwater; a man-made six-to-10-acre island; an arched cedar walkway along the waterfront; lakeshore motor hotels; apartments; a major hotel site; park areas and a new yacht club.

The plans also called for an integration of the Simpson sawmill operations. Roanoke Avenue was to be abolished and a new road built along the southern boundary of the sawmill industrial area.

Closer to City Park, a diagonal road was also to be built, to link Abbott Street to Water Street, near the city hall. Water Street was to follow the existing shoreline to Manhattan point, eliminating Water Street as it is now located.

HARBOR

A harbor was proposed for the basin west of city hall, with small canals running to the steps of motor hotel units, and the Kelowna Yacht Club would have been relocated at the outer edge of the harbor.

However, the original concept had changed in many ways, said Mayor Parkinson during September, with final plans now lying in abeyance.

The city had gone as far as obtaining land values of private property in the area involved, after it was decided in July, 1967, to spend $19,825 on a preparation and urban renewal study.

The federal government, through Central Mortgage and Housing, was to share the cost of the study equally with the city. Already $17,000 has been spent on the "ground work," without a spadeful of earth being turned.

What was thought by many to be the first solid indication that the waterfront conversion scheme was actually going ahead, was the purchase by CPR of eight acres of city land adjacent to the White Truck plant along Highway 97 last summer.

CP's plan for the land, which went into the construction stages last week, includes an entire new merchandising complex which will apparently leave their present location along Water Street free for some kind of future development.

Nevertheless, both railway companies are still holding the overall redevelopment of the lakeshore area in their own hands, with the City of Kelowna left on the boardwalk.

At the present stage of things the whole question of urban renewal moves into the mysterious realm of politics and what the present government has decided is good for the country and for its crown corporations, such as the CNR.

This week Mayor Parkinson suggested that a related reason the government might have shut down redevelopment schemes such as Kelowna's was as a result of the existing housing shortage across the country as reported by the recent government housing task force.

"But very few homes would be affected in Kelowna, and in a very small area around the point from the Simpson mill," he said.

ALTERNATIVE

For this reason the mayor will be petitioning the federal authorities in Ottawa later this month for a "go-ahead on the original scheme with its incorporated modifications.

If the government stands adamant, the alternative would be for the city to negotiate some sort of direct land-swap with the CNR and CPR as centres such as Saskatoon and Winnipeg have done.

However, the Saskatoon example could be the first reason the CNR might be reticent about this type of deal. There they are, still standing at their new outskirts location waiting for a core area of downtown Saskatoon, which they vacated several years ago under a land-swap arrangement, to be developed as promised.

If the City of Kelowna owned an area, particularly sought after by the CNR, as in Winnipeg, a land-swap would be all the more probable.

There, a bill to be introduced in the legislature shortly would allow CN to get title to a piece of metro-owned property behind the Hotel Fort Garry for a $15,000,000 convention centre. In exchange, the company is willing to let metro have a stretch of land planned for an expressway.

But in Kelowna the CNR already owns probably the most desirable piece of real estate for such a convention facility or apartment house development. Further, if they were to let the whole lakeshore area go they might see themselves stuck for tugboat and barge docking facilities eventually.

However, under the original Kelowna redevelopment plan a combining of the CNR and CPR docking facilities at one wharf was proposed.

Still it will probably come to pass that the present lakeshore eyesore will be removed in the not-too-distant future, to be replaced by what one has called "development which could make Kelowna the tourist mecca of western Canada," if we don't already have that distinction.

Said Mayor Parkinson this week, "We've gone a long way toward the planning now, and it would release a lot of very valuable land, now full of tracks and used by the railroads, for recreational purposes."

Coronation Avenue, Site Of New Cascade Building

Contract is expected to be awarded early next week for the building of a new Cascade Co-Operative Union packing plant on the company's Coronation Avenue site.

The announcement was made today by C. F. Butler, Cascade Co-Op manager, after a meeting of the 40 grower-members union Tuesday evening.

Mr. Butler said that although he was not in a position to give an estimated final cost for the new building and equipment, he did say it would definitely cost more than the approximate $300,000 loss from the company's Feb. 27 fire at Ellis Street and Smith Avenue.

The new packing plant is needed as a direct result of the fire, in which Cascade's packing plant was levelled and the cold storage section of the complex partly damaged.

Tuesday evening's decision to rebuild, but at a different location from the old plant, was almost unanimous said the manager. However two members did register negative votes.

The union's board of directors is now examining building plans and costs. Three tenders have been received, said Mr. Butler, with one more still expected to come in.

The specifications call for a 120-foot by 100-foot new packing building, with an extra 40-foot long office and personnel area on the west side of the structure.

Integrated into the over-all design will be the company's present cold storage warehouse on the Coronation Avenue site, which will become attached to the new plant by way of a covered canopy.

"This is so the fruit will always be under cover in its transit from the storage section to the packing area," Mr. Butler said.

Left standing alone, but still to be used, is the cold storage building at Ellis Street and Smith Avenue.

The new plant is expected to be equipped with the most modern fruit-packing machinery available. Discussions and consultations have been going on between Cascade officials and U.S. equipment manufacturers for about a month.

The manager said today that final cost estimates would be available probably next week, once tenders have been considered.

Cascade's original packing plant, built during the early 1930s, was totally destroyed by the $300,000 fire which ripped through the wooden frame building Feb. 27.

About 6,000 cases of standard pack apples stored in the structure sustained water, smoke and change-of-temperature damage. Before the ruins had stopped smoking Feb. 28, a provincial fire marshal was on the scene investigating the conflagration's origin, and the possibility of arson.

Contacted Tuesday, Kelowna Fire Chief Charles Pettman said the marshal's report has not yet been received.

CHIMNEY FIRE
The Kelowna Fire Brigade answered a call to 1319 Bertram St. about 11:10 a.m. today to quell a chimney fire. There was no damage reported, to the wood-frame home.

SEEN and HEARD

Sign seen at local laundry and dry cleaning establishment: "We Never Make Mistakes."

It had enough to hitch-hike at night but to thumb rides on a darkened road wearing dark clothes is even worse. Two youths had their thumbs out on Lakeshore Road after dark Tuesday wearing dark jackets and pants. Auto had to swerve at the last minute to avoid hitting them. The youths wouldn't budge from the edge of the pavement. Other hitch-hikers have the best answer—they carry flashlights.

Kelowna seems to have more than its share of nuisance misspellings, some deliberate, some not. One downtown beauty salon advertises —no appointments necessary for "permants". Maybe it's a new eyelash-wave treatment.

There's nothing to wear out a youngster faster than a long bus trip from Winnipeg to Kelowna and several hours on stage at the Kelowna Community Theatre. And so, the bus carrying the members of the 40-voice Mennonite Children's Choir from Winnipeg on their way out of town early today, was full of sleeping youngsters.

City crews put up a sturdy metal sign at the first big look-out on Knox Mountain Park road. They placed it beside the stump of a giant ponderosa which had been killed by vandals and had to be felled. The sign spoke sadly of the deed and mentioned a reward for the apprehension of vandals. Now the sign has been removed, presumably by vandals.

VIMY VETERANS
Veterans of Canada's most famous battle, Vimy Ridge, will be wined and dined today by members of Branch 26, Kelowna, Royal Canadian Legion. About 30 veterans of Vimy are expected to attend the 52nd anniversary banquet commencing the First World War encounter, together with several hundred other veterans at the legion hall, 1633 Ellis St., at 7 p.m.

COUNCIL AT WORK

Pen-And-Ink Accounting Goes City Plans Switch To Computer

The computer age has arrived at the Kelowna city hall. Actually, the electronic brain will be located outside the city hall, at a Kelowna computer centre, which will likely be used by a number of industries. The city council Tuesday night authorized signing of a two-year contract with DataTech Canada Ltd., the firm which plans to locate a computer in the city. The change to electronic data processing has been planned by city officials for three years. The council was told the equipment won't cost much more than the present system and eventually will result in a saving for taxpayers. First year costs have been estimated at between $24,000 and $27,000, dropping to $14,000 to $17,000 each succeeding year.

A civic luncheon will be held April 19 to welcome Pacific Western Airlines and B.C. Air Lines to Kelowna and the Interior. PWA replaces CP Air effective April 27, with BCAL supplying feeder service, starting the same date. Aircraft to be used by PWA (The Boeing 737 and the Convair 440) will be on public display at the Kelowna Airport from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 19 and attempts will be made to have the BCAL aircraft displayed at the same time.

Roger Tait and Doug Birdsall of the Kelowna International Regatta Association received formal approval from the council for a Regatta Avenue-Abbott Street mall during the Regatta, Aug. 6 to 9. Mr. Tait said many features were planned for the mall, which will be set up from Mill Street to a point between the City Park and the Caravel Motor Inn. The mall will be just one of many new attractions designed to get more local people participating in the 1969 Regatta.

Various city officials will be invited to Sun-Rype Products Ltd. at 2 p.m. April 17, to examine the firm's trickling filter system of industrial waste disposal.

The need for stronger sign regulations was again brought up by Mayor R. F. Parkinson, who wondered how senior staff were getting along with a proposed bylaw for fascia (flat against the building) signs in the downtown. The council was told by building inspector Bill Conn the sign bylaw should be updated soon, but time is needed away from other duties to examine the needs and draft a bylaw. Mayor Parkinson asked that the matter be brought up again in early or mid-September. The council will also check the department of highways about an increasing number of roadway signs.

The full council, six aldermen and the mayor, was at the table for the first time since Feb. 3. Traditional winter vacations and business trips cut into the ranks.

The Dr. Knox Band Parents' Association was given permission to stage the eighth annual chocolate drive, the week of Sept. 22.

The Canadian Order of Foresters was given permission to canvass the city selling Christmas candy stockings, Dec. 1 and 2.

With appeals for permission to conduct drives beginning to come in regularly, Ald. E. R. Winter suggested the city clerk keep a record of all drives approved by the council. In the past there has been criticism by the council that too many appeals take place within the city.

A letter will be sent to Mrs. R. J. S. (Reg) Moir, following her husband's injury last Thursday in a traffic accident. Mr. Moir, seriously injured in the five-car accident, is the city's deputy magistrate.

Beginning Monday the council will meet in committees at 10 a.m. each Monday, prior to the regular 7:30 p.m. council meeting that day.

Dealing with a light agenda, which touched off considerable discussion, the council took two and a half hours for the regular meeting, which had been delayed until Tuesday because of the Easter Monday holiday, recognized by the city.

Local Shrine Club Members To Stage B.C. Ceremonial

The Kelowna Shrine Club will again play "hoopla" host to the provincial Shrine ceremonial next year, with plans about to be made for the madcap whims of some 1,600 Shrine delegates from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Washington, and British Columbia.

Not since 1956 has the city been the site of the colorful event, which is held twice a year. The ceremony for the initiation of new members will be divided between the arena and the community theatre May 15 and 16, although "we'll be taking over the whole city," said Kelowna Shrine Club secretary, Carman Woods.

Adding to the mayhem typical associated with Shrine endeavors, will be high-stepping bands from Vancouver and Victoria, as well as all the other "eccentric" accoutrements that are traditionally a part of the Shrine itinerary.

All other aspects of the event, including list of dignitaries and special guests are still in the organizational stage, said Mr. Woods.

Police Report
Thefts, Break-Ins

Incidents of break-ins and vandalism are on the increase this week, with police for the second day in a row investigating overnight thefts.

A juvenile was kept in custody for several hours early today as a result of a flag being torn down on Bernard Avenue near the Ogopogo statue.

Mrs. Helen Hryniewick, 1210 McBride Rd., reported today an ornament was stolen from her car parked on Pandosy Street.

The 1684 Ethel St. residence of Gordon Herbert was broken into sometime Tuesday, but police do not know if anything was taken.

A vehicle driven by a juvenile Tuesday slammed into a parked car on Kelowna Crescent, causing about $1,000 damage. The parked vehicle was owned by Victor Enman, 681 Burne Ave. The incident occurred about 10 p.m.

CHARGES OF ABUSE

Welfare Office Probe Ordered

An investigation will be made into charges of abuse at the City of Kelowna welfare office.

The charges were made by Ald. Hilbert Roth at Tuesday's city council meeting.

Ald. Roth suggested Ald. E. R. Winter (the alderman responsible for welfare matters) or a special committee, check charges of people having to take abuse from city welfare administrators.

Ald. Roth, who was in charge of the department last year, said he still gets complaints.

"The next time I hear a complaint, I'll bring the person before the council," so he can tell his story.

Ald. Roth said he was concerned about abuses of legitimate local welfare cases, not transients.

In calling for a complete examination of the city welfare system, he said people who need welfare "are due respect and dignity."

At the same time Ald. Roth brought up a pet subject, hippies and transients who try to take advantage of the welfare office, saying the hard line police adopted last year should be continued.

Ald. Winter suggested perhaps a firm line would be better than a hard line.

Cancer Drive Returns Active

Kelowna generosity has once again surpassed expectations of the Canadian Cancer Society fund drive, currently being conducted throughout Canada.

Early returns by canvassers covering the city show that residents are putting their wallets firmly behind the research efforts of the society that may one day irradiate the dread disease.

In spite of the great advances in medical treatment in recent years, the number of cancer deaths has soared beyond that of the predicted death rate. Some of the reasons for the increase in cancer are known, but many remain a mystery. This mystery can only be solved by research, and the Canadian Cancer Society provides 90 per cent of all research funds in Canada.

So when the canvasser calls this month, please be part of the 90 per cent in Canada's battle to beat cancer.

KLT Casting Murder Story

Kelowna Little Theatre will be casting for its June production of the three act mystery, "The Sound of Murder" at the group's clubhouse on Bertram Street, Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The play, written by William Fairchild was first performed at the Aldwych Theatre, London, England, and has an unusual twist to its plot. KLT will present the play on June 12, 13 and 14 at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

The fact that June 13 is also a Friday does not deter the group at all. "In fact, we plan a special event for that particular day," says KLT vice-president, Lee Nevrbaum.

CONDITION IMPROVES
The condition of R. J. S. (Reg) Moir, a local barrister seriously injured Thursday in a five-car accident, "appears to be satisfactory," a hospital spokesman said today. Earlier this week Mr. Moir's condition was described as "fair." The man suffered a crushed shoulder, broken ribs and head injuries in the accident, which occurred at Pandosy Street and Harvey Avenue. The only other person injured in the crash, Roger Lee Clarke, Summerland, was released from hospital Sunday.

ALD. HILBERT ROTH concerned

"Some departments have gained a notoriety for being hard to get along with," said Ald. Roth. He said all city employees are public servants.

COMPLIMENTS

Ald. Winter complimented the city staff, saying some people occasionally deliberately aggravate staff members and they (the staff) can't be pleasant all the time. However, he said the situation would be checked.

Ald. M. J. Peters said "if we are being administered so badly, let's set up a committee to check the situation."

There was some discussion about voting for a motion about continuing the hard line on transient welfare-seekers, but the motion carried with Mayor R. F. Parkinson saying, no matter what the wording of the motion, the word would again be that Kelowna won't welcome bums, but will take care of its legitimate welfare cases.

Incident Not 'Near Miss' Charges Airport Manager

A Daily Courier story about an incident at the Kelowna Airport Friday has been termed "premature" and "irresponsible."

The charge was made Tuesday night by airport manager Eric Davison to the city council.

At the same time Mr. Davison indicated everything was not normal at the time of the incident and a report has been made to air regulation authorities.

A witness on the ground at the airport Friday said a small aircraft taking off at the time a CP Air DC-6-B was arriving forced the CP Air captain to break off his landing pattern.

Later reports indicated the situation was not as close as originally reported, but the council Tuesday wanted to know just how close.

Mr. Davison said the aircraft

(the single-engine aircraft taking off and the DC-6-B attempting to land) were on a converging course, but the incident wasn't a "near miss."

Mr. Davison said the CP Air captain didn't conform with the air traffic pattern at the time. He said private aircraft for some time had been landing from the north, but the CP captain decided to approach from the south. The captain was told of the north end runway activity, said Mr. Davison, but still elected to approach from the south. After being told of the small aircraft taking off, the CP Air pilot made another circuit of the airport, then landed without incident.

There were indications that expanded equipment facilities expected at the airport in future might help eliminate such occurrences.

Driving Is Privilege, Not Right Magistrate Tells Kelowna Youth

Clarence Albert Ditson, 20, of Kelowna, was today fined $250 by Magistrate D. M. White after pleading guilty Tuesday to a charge of driving while his right to obtain a driver's licence was under suspension.

The youth, who had been remanded in custody Wednesday for the Motor Vehicles Act offence, was told by Magistrate White, that it was not a right, but "a privilege to drive a motor vehicle and where you abuse the privilege, you do not deserve a licence."

Robert J. Raymer, 19, of Kelowna, today was given a two-year suspended sentence after being convicted of a charge under section 33 of the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

The youth told the court he agreed for the most part with a probation report submitted by officer Doug Hunter.

Prosecutor Brian Weddell said: "He has no previous convictions but it appears there is a pattern developing as he has been described as a moderate to heavy drinker, which may be the route on which he now finds himself."

The prosecutor had submitted that a strict probation period, as recommended in the officer's report, might be the most effective sentence.

ed sentence he must observe a personal curfew of 10 p.m. each night.

The youth told the court he had already secured a job, pending the completion of his court proceedings.

In other court business Anton R. Kirschner, of Kelowna, was fined $50 after pleading guilty to a March 28 charge of failing to confine his vehicle to the right side of the highway.

The charge was laid following a $1,500 damage accident along Westside Road, Westbank, where the accused's vehicle left the road.

Short Takes

Last week the British Labor government fought three more by-elections and lost them all, including one seat it had previously held. This means that the Wilson government's by-election record is now the worst of this century. Labor has lost 12 of the 18 seats it has defended since the last general election. If he wished, Mr. Wilson could postpone the next general election until the spring of 1971, but this would be dangerous strategy. He should be ready to fight an election no later than the fall of 1970. This means he has 18 months to repair his government's image. Such a repair job could depend on two closely related things. First, the progress of the British economy towards a reasonable stability—which has so often been promised but still stubbornly refuses to appear—must be established in terms no one can mistake. Secondly, the British people must be persuaded to regard the Labor government as a competent one and the leaders of the party as men who can be entrusted with the country's future for another term. This involves, among other things, not having well publicized squabbles between ministers over the wisdom of government policies, and not engaging in ill-thought-out adventures on Caribbean islands. A complete change in the government image in 18 months is a great deal to ask but it is not impossible.

At last someone has done it: produced a gardening book specifically for British Columbia. Gardening For The West has just been published by Agency Press of Vancouver. It is written by Robert A. Nicholson, a well known coast landscape lecturer and writer. He was formerly garden editor of the Province and now writes for the Sun as well as being parks administrator in Surrey. In case your reaction is "But he is a coast man and gardening at the coast and in the interior are quite different," it is hastily pointed out that Mr. Nicholson knows this and takes it into account in his book, which certainly is the "most local" gardening book for this area we have seen. It is well illustrated both with color photos and black and white drawings. A partial list of the chapter headings indicates the scope of the book: the importance of soil; flowers for every month; favorite plants; fun with seed and cuttings; growing your own vegetables; garden weeds and pests; trees; garden design; patio and pools; rock gardens; folklore; planning. We would suggest that this is a little book which the experienced gardener will be able to use to advantage while the inexperienced gardener will find it invaluable. An excellent addition to any Okanagan library.

In sorrow it must be recorded that the 1969 session of the British Columbia Legislature ended on a very sour note. The government's handling of the Commonwealth Trust affair did not sit too well with most of the people in the province and the use-of-government-plans by some ministers, as revealed in committee, irritated many. But the censure and suspension of veteran NDP member Dowding revolted many people including some who normally support the government. The incident which was the basis of the censure move happened three years ago and if any action was warranted it should have been taken then. A former Social Credit member who had been chairman of the private bills committee three years ago, Alex Matthews, has said that Mr. Dowding had been very open and frank at that time and everything was above board. This former government supporter has been quoted as saying that the action against the opposition member was "a low, dirty, political trick." This certainly is the opinion of many persons who normally support the Social Credit government. These are people who would expect more than this from the government; people who are hurt by this unnecessary show of vindictiveness by the government. At a time when the government can not afford to lose any support, it stupidly became embroiled in the Dowding affair which could only help erode Social Credit strength.

We must confess to having some sympathy for the Kelowna youth who was found guilty of having disregarded a highway sign on the Last Mountain road. The sign warned that no vehicle could go beyond that point without chains. Probably Magistrate White could have done nothing else than find him guilty and probably when he gave a suspended sentence he was indicating his disapproval of the whole case. Still, the question does remain should this chap have been charged at all? As we understand it, the road was bare but, nevertheless, he had chains for his four wheels in his car. Moreover, the car, when ticketed was in the Last Mountain parking lot, having negotiated the road without trouble and having caused no one any inconvenience. While the car was parked in the parking lot, it was ticketed by the police. Obviously the driver had "broken the law" to get his car there—and how many drivers under the same circumstances would not have done the same thing?—but, after all, there had been no accident and no one had been inconvenienced. Would not a warning have been sufficient? There are times when the law can be stupid and there are times when strict enforcement of the law can be equally stupid. Circumstances do alter cases and this would appear to have been one of those times deserving of a little understanding and a little wisdom on the part of the law enforcement officer.

Bygone Days

10 YEARS AGO

Two hundred persons gathered at the Kelowna High School to hear a panel of doctors tell "the story of cancer." The public forum was sponsored by the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Cancer Society. New 'Flotel', The QE 2 Sails But It's Hardly Like A Ship

SOUTHAMPTON (CP) —

From the moment you step aboard Britain's newly finished flagship, the Queen Elizabeth 2, you realize this isn't going to be a bit like the old Queen liners—in fact, you may well wonder if you're on a ship at all.

If it were not for the naval-type uniforms, you might think you were in a luxurious American-style hotel on some tropical island. The promenade decks don't look like decks at all, but are carpeted extensions to the public rooms, ablaze with Caribbean colors and fringed with foliage.

In the cabins, portholes are concealed behind net curtains and the fittings, including six-channel radio and piped music, are those of any international modern hotel.

Gone are such traditional titles as purser and cruise director. Instead, there is a "hotel manager" and his staff. Even the starched white mess-jackets of the stewards have been replaced by khaki cotton tunics.

It's all part of a calculated campaign by Cunard to project the QE2 as a holiday resort rather than an Atlantic ferry. Most of her time will be spent cruising and Cunard executives no longer see their main competitor in the airlines but in two-week package holidays at resorts patronized by North Americans, who have always formed the bulk of their post-war trade.

REACTIONS MIXED
Reporters who spent a night aboard before the liner sailed on her proving cruise recently to sample the newly completed interior had mixed reactions to what The Daily Mirror called the "flotel" look. Some regretted the passing of the old polished brass and teak—even the deck rails are plastic, to conform with United States fire regulations—but most decided the £29,000,000 ($75,400,000) liner had surmounted her unhappy debut and would prove an impressive national showpiece.

The QE2, due to sail on her maiden transatlantic voyage to New York May 2, is designed in what might be called a c-e-a-g-e classical style. The stark effect of aluminum ceilings and white glass-fibre pillars is relieved by colors bright as a paintbox and rich fittings like suede chairs, leather-lined walls and a convincing-looking fireproof substitute for figured wood panelling.

Stepping from the gangway into the midships lobby, where most passengers will get their first taste of the ship, is like entering a jeweller's showcase. Plush dark blue carpet flows into leather-covered walls of the same shade, the discreet effect set off by bright green circular sofas.

A wide stairway in the same dark blue decor, hung with vivid abstract paintings, leads down to the stateroom decks, the hotel-type rooms—nearly all with sea views—opening off long, carpeted corridors.

PEACOCKS SET OFF

One of the most successful commissioned works of art in the ship is a huge oatmeal-colored tapestry by Canadian artist Helena Baryina, depicting the launching ceremony. It hangs at the entrance to the first-class "Columbia" restaurant.

Figuring that first-class passengers dress like peacocks at night, the designers of this section have turned the public rooms into dignified, neutral-colored frames for an animated picture. The main lounge is a vast expanse of silvery white and honey tones, the opulent grill room a plush retreat in dark mahogany with soft pink lighting where shy celebrities can escape the stares of the main restaurant for a premium charge of $5 a head.

Though there are no class-barrier notices, you can tell the cheaper end of the ship by the brighter colors. The huge double-tiered dance lounge is a dazzle of clashing red, orange and pink, while the Britannia dining room evokes Carnaby Street with its decor of red, white and blue.

One Cunard executive from Canada, cornered in the Q4 nightclub between blasts from a throbbing pop group, pronounced the ship "very sexy" on account of all the red splashed around the decor. It certainly produces a more youthful atmosphere than the dark wood and chintzy drapes of the older Queens.

Cunard men believe there is a huge ocean-going market among executives in their 30s and 40s who will enjoy the go-go ambience of the QE2 where they might have shied away from the Palm Court aura of the Queen Mary.

9,000 MEALS A DAY

Although the QE2 is shorter and slimmer than her predecessors, the carries 13 decks and her owners claim passengers will have 52 per cent more space than on the old Queen liners.

A vast stainless-steel kitchen serves three restaurants—all situated high in the ship with ocean views—and can turn out 9,000 meals a day for passengers and crew.

There are two terraces of open-air pools for tropical cruising; a lido with colored sun umbrellas; an art gallery selling aggressively modern paintings and sculpture by British artists; nine cocktail bars decorated in every style from green velvet to red plastic and nine places to dance ranging from ballroom-tempo music to shrieking discoteques.

Canadian singer Edmund Hoekridge will be one of the liner's first cabaret stars. The Vancouver-born baritone will entertain on the maiden voyage to New York.

Fares on the Atlantic will range from £88 ($223.60) to £250 ($650) for the best of 46 luxury suites with built-in boxes and carpeted bathroom. Cunard chairman Sir Basil Smalpeice, conceding that the company lost $7,800,000 gross revenue because of the delays to the ship, told reporters QE2 must run an average 75 per cent capacity to make a profit. But he added she is expected to earn $28,000,000 a year.

A Dozen Dead Have Live Hoops

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters)

At least 12 dead persons are lying in refrigerated coffins around the United States in the hope that one day they can be brought back to life.

Followers of the "Cryonics" cult believe that within 25 years freezing of the dead will become a major industry in the U.S. and man will be liberated from the inevitability of death.

Cryonics societies now thrive in seven American cities from New York to Los Angeles, with more than 500 members.

The newest society was launched here recently led by a prominent doctor, Dr. M. Coleman Harris, 70, a former president of the American College of Allergists, who conceals that most doctors scoff at Cryonics.

The process involves freezing people at death on the assumption they can be thawed out in identical condition in 10, 15, 50 or 100 years, ready to be cured by doctors who then will know much more than their present-day colleagues.

BLOOD DRAINED OFF

The first person was placed in "suspended animation" in a deep freeze capsule two years ago. He was James Bedford, an elderly University of California professor, who left a substantial amount of money for research into freeze-wait-reanimate techniques.

As soon after death as possible the body is drained of blood, filled with a cooling fluid and wrapped in silver foil. It is placed in an airtight capsule which is filled with liquid nitrogen, a freezing agent that drops temperature to near absolute zero—minus 459.6 degrees Fahrenheit.

Only limited maintenance work is required thereafter.

OTTAWA REPORT

A Little Moral Word From Friendly Max

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

This month you are probably making out your 1968 income tax return. I have just been reading the annual report of Auditor General Maxwell Henderson on how your tax money is spent; it will not make you a more cheerful taxpayer to learn of this little moral from Max:

In 1966 the Department of Transport in Ottawa ordered 30 electronic tubes to be custom made at $400 each. Later the Department realized that, owing to a clerical error, it had ordered the wrong type of tube, so they were scrapped. The required tubes can however be bought readily, not for $400 each custom made, but for a mere $1.35 each at any electronic supply shop.

Every Canadian baby contributes to the federal tax coffers in its act of birth, because the fees charged by the medical help include an element of income tax. Ultimately that same Canadian pays final tribute to Ottawa through the taxes on the hearse carrying the coffin to the graveyard. On every day between those two events, that Canadian pays needlessly large sums into the rapacious maw of the federal government, either as indirect taxes hidden in the price of items used or consumed, or as direct taxes on earnings. These day-by-day payments add up to the painful fact that every Canadian's lifetime payments to Ottawa far exceed payments made to any other outside recipient.

OUR TAX WATCHDOGS

That is what Parliament is all about. The first parliament was convened to prevent a rapacious government from levying needlessly high taxes, and to ensure that the taxes collected were spent with housewifely care so that the taxpayer would receive full value for money.

Our federal Parliament approves general objectives for spending, and hires the Auditor General of Canada to make the minutely detailed check which it is unable to do itself. The Auditor General then reports to his employers—our MPs—every year, to certify the correctness of the government's accounts, and to point out cases where slovenly or incompetent or dishonest management has defrauded the taxpayer of full value for money.

Every taxpayer should know all about the Auditor General's reports, so newspapers don't back the obscuring curtain at least enough to disclose that there are worms in the can. Any taxpayer who wants to learn more can read the report in certain libraries, or can buy a copy for only $1.50 from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa.

TAKE IT WITH BICARB

This year's report contains nearly 300 pages. Taken in the safe small dose of one page each day, that is sufficient to make your blood boil every day in the year except Sundays and national holidays. Any political party seeking to defeat the government in an election could hardly do better than distribute the horror stories from selected pages of the report, and explain how it would act more prudently in power.

Max's moral about those electronic tubes shows how our taxes are eroded every day by the needless extravagance stemming from sheer inefficiency and carelessness. Such examples guide the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons, now under the aggressive and conscientious chairmanship of Guelph's MP, Alf Hales, and enable it to make recommendations to the government as to how to improve its management. But governments are careless with your tax money, and ignore most such recommendations. Still still unimplemented are 4 recommendations from 1963, 24 from 1964, 13 from 1966 and 9 from 1967. In 1965 and 1968 the government, perhaps fearful in view of imminent elections, did not adequately convene the Hales committee.

Having thus ignored that committee of Parliament, the government is now, according to the Auditor General, himself, trying to throttle him, by not permitting him to recruit sufficient trained staff to check up on other orders for electronic tubes and so on. This all, as I suggested, adds up to a daily blood boil.

CANADA'S STORY

Canadian Attacks Proved Costly

By BOB BOWMAN

Probably the greatest Governor of Canada during the French regime was Count Frontenac, especially as Champlain was not given that rank until almost the end of his life. Frontenac served two terms, the first of which was almost exactly 10 years. He was appointed Governor on April 7, 1672, and recalled to France on April 9, 1682. His second term was from 1689 until his death at Quebec in 1698.

Frontenac's first term ended abruptly because of constant quarrels with Bishop Laval and Intendant Duchesneau who was also brought back to France with Frontenac. It was a move that King Louis XIV came to regret because the governors who succeeded Frontenac could not cope with the Iroquois, and French prestige in North America suffered severely.

The situation became so urgent that King Louis practically ate humble pie in 1689 when he asked Frontenac to return to Canada and said "I send you back to New France where I expect you will serve me as well as you did before. I ask for nothing more."

Frontenac did stabilize the situation quickly and not only brought the Iroquois under control, but successfully defended Quebec against an expeditionary force sent from the New England colonies.

If Frontenac made a major mistake it was attacking the British colonies to the south, but he was really obeying instructions from France. J. L. Rutledge in "Century of Conflict" quotes an Indian proverb "If you upset a wasps' nest you must crush the wasps or they will sting you." The constant Canadian attacks on the British colonies led eventually to France's loss of Canada.

It is interesting to speculate what might have happened if Canada had tried to cooperate with the British colonies instead of attacking them.

OTHER EVENTS ON APR. 9:

- 1682—LaSalle reached mouth of Mississippi and claimed Louisiana.
- 1864—New Brunswick authorized delegation to attend conference on proposed Maritime union.
- 1914—First train arrived at Prince Rupert from Winnipeg on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.
- 1917—Canadians took Vimy Ridge.
- 1919—Royal Commission pointed to investigate high cost of living.
- 1961—Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain arrived in Ottawa for discussions with Government of Canada.
- 1962—Toronto Hotel strike at Toronto ended after 11 months.

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 9, 1968 . . . Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to U.S. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant 104 years ago today—in 1865—at Appomattox Court House, and the American Civil War was over. The industry and economy of the South had been virtually destroyed. The war cost the North about $11,500,000,000 (including pensions and interest on war loans) and the South about $3,500,000,000. Though never counted properly, about 500,000 men died in battle and thousands more in prison camps.

LETTER TO EDITOR

GLASS DANGER

Sir:—Through your paper I would like to hear other opinions on the excessive amount of broken glass on the city streets and grass.

Do we have to wait until a toddler bleeds to death before some action is taken?

Also must the City Park be full of litter like last summer? Mostly junklike cartons, ice cream wrappers, etc.

The washroom for full of paper on the floor. Not a tap available to wash a small child off.

BRIEF BRIEF

DISPUTE OVER

DAWSON CREEK (CP)—The long-standing dispute between the City of Dawson Creek and its outside workers has been settled. The outside workers, represented by Local 31 of the Teamsters Union, went on strike against the city in May of 1968.

HOW TO GIVE GOOD GIFTS

"If you're being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?"—Luke 11:13.

The honest seeker will not be left stranded. "Seek and ye shall find." "No good thing will He withhold from them who walk uprightly."

MR. AND MRS. GODHARD JOHNSON (Courier Photo)

Local Couple Celebrates 68th Wedding Anniversary

On April 3, Mr. and Mrs. Godhard Johnson of East Kelowna celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary at home with relatives.

Mr. Johnson was born in Sweden in 1880 and his wife was born in Norway in 1882.

Having emigrated separately to the United States, where they each spent several years, they first met after they both arrived in Canada and were married in Wetaskiwin, Alta., where Mr. Johnson was homesteading.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Kelowna in 1920 and farmed at Rutland for 13 years after which they moved to East Kelowna where they have an acreage.

In the old days, before most babies were born in hospitals, Mrs. Johnson, who had 12 children of her own, often accompanied the late Dr. W. J. Knox and helped at the births of her neighbor's children.

They have nine living children: Gladys, Mrs. E. P. Wyles, Penicton; Lilac, Mrs. Oscar Nielson, Summerland; Olive, Mrs. Vern Nelson, Nelson; Sylvia, Mrs. Ted Kiehlbauch, Kelowna; Lily, Mrs. Herb Comm, Spokane, Wash.; Evelyn, Mrs.

Carl Johnson, Princeton; Ted, Enderby; Fred, Spokane and Alf of Mount Vernon, Ohio. One son Louie deceased in 1968.

They have 36 grandchildren, 56 great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren.

GRADUATES

Dorothea Hirsch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hirsch, 1494 Glenview Ave., recently graduated from the Pacific Western Airlines as an air stewardess. She will be based in Vancouver and starts her new position on April 10.

Camp Owaissi Reunion Planned

WINFIELD (Special) — Rev. Lorin A. C. Smith, rector of Woodside is busy sending out invitations and will be the emcee at a pot luck supper and re-union to be held in the Cameron Room in St. Michael and All Angels' Parish Hall at 6:30 p.m. April 19.

The invitations are going out to all ages of friends, members, leaders and supporters of the Okanagan Anglican Camp (Camp Owaissi) since September, 1948. The camp is now 21 years old.

Those attending are asked to bring camp photos, snapshots, souvenirs, or any other camp treasures gathered over the years for the enjoyment of all. The program planned is supper, a camp sing-song, stories, forecasts and a camp film.

WELFARE CASES AIDED
VANCOUVER (CP) — A self-help welfare program designed to inspire confidence and aid recipients has been started here by Grace McCarthy, minister without portfolio in the Social Credit government. The program, patterned after a project successfully operated in New York State, takes a dozen people and introduces them to a dozen people who have been unemployed for years. The volunteer talks over problems with the welfare recipient and attempts to instill self-confidence.

Mrs. A. H. McDermid Installed As Worthy Matron of Kelowna OES

Kelowna Chapter No. 62 Order of the Eastern Star held installation of their officers on April 2 in St. George's Masonic Hall.

The chapter room was nicely decorated with flowers. There were many visitors who had come to share in the festivities from the surrounding chapters in the province. Also visitors who were in Kelowna at that time.

Past Matron Mrs. K. S. N. Shepherd was the installing officer and Mrs. E. F. Evans the installing marshal. The past matrons assisting in the installation were: Mrs. Robert Caldwell, associate matron; Mrs. A. Jones, secretary; Mrs. T. E. Handlen, treasurer; Mrs. L. L. Constable, conductress; Mrs. Alec Marr, associate conductress; Mrs. W. A. Sanborn, chaplain; Mrs. Eric Loken, marshal; Mrs. Albin E. Taitman, organist; Mrs. H. Hewett, warden; Mrs. Lionel E. North, sentinel.

Officers installed for the ensuing term were: Worthy matron, Mrs. A. H. McDermid; worthy patron, A. J. R. Fuller; associate matron, Mrs. F. T. Bunce; associate patron, S. J. Duff; secretary, Mrs. R. W. Atkinson; treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Owens; conductress, Mrs. C. E. Simkins; associate conductress, Mrs. A. Davis; chaplain, Mrs. Wm. C. MacKay; marshal, Mrs. D. Nottingham; organist, Mrs. A. J. R. Fuller; Adah, Mrs. D. J. Fisher; Ruth, Mrs. S. J. Duff; Easter, Mrs. D. R. Follett; warden, Mrs. A. Marshall; sentinel, Mrs. Robert Caldwell.

Mrs. Eric Loken president of the past matrons presented the Worthy Matron's Jewel to Mrs. C. E. Sladen. A Jones presented the Worthy Patron's Bar.

The Past Matrons welcomed retiring Worthy Matron Mrs. C. E. Sladen into their club with a very nice addenda.

An appropriate gift was given to the Past Matron Mrs. C. E. Sladen from her officers which was a white Bible and an oval plate with the officers names printed on it in gold leaf. The presentation was made by Mrs. A. H. McDermid.

Among the gifts given to the new Worthy Matron Mrs. A. H. McDermid were a corsage of pink carnations from a friend. Also a bouquet of pink roses from her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lundquist of Fort St. John.

A lovely lunch was served after the installation by the ladies of the Past Matrons Club.

Third Kelowna Brownie Pack Enrolls Eleven New Members

Daffodils decorated the lovely tea table when Mrs. W. Moonen, District Commissioner, enrolled 11 of the 24 brownies in the Third Kelowna Pack.

The following girls received their pins: Patti Hodgson, Debbie James, Marilyn Koop, Wendy Lind, Glenda Schimpf, Heather Siluck, Jill Stubbs, Shelley Vanderhoeck, Wendy Vanderhoeck, Wendy Webb, and Donna McIntyre who was presented with her mother's brownie pin.

Debbie Woronak, who is 'flying up' to guides this week, brought each brownie up the magic path and presented her for enrolment to Mrs. Moonen.

Two girls Debbie Anderson and Elaine Gaugh have just joined the pack and are starting to work towards enrolment. After the ceremonies, tea, which was provided by the mothers' committee, was served by some of the older brownies. They were: Marie Anhelger, Karen Brummett, Lisa Campbell, Sherry Desrochers, Pam Fennell, Janyce Hemmett, Jill Mollin, Shirley Moulton, LaRae Noer, Elaine Taylor and Kim Froom.

Hai Odum, principal of Bankhead Elementary School, welcomed the visitors and complimented them on the interest shown by the fine attendance at the tea.

Mrs. W. A. (Boots) Ribelin, who has been instrumental in reorganizing the Bankhead Pack was presented with a bouquet of flowers as a small token of appreciation for her help and guidance.

On Wednesday evening the girls accompanied by their mothers, Mrs. O. J. Desrochers and Mrs. D. R. McIntyre, presented a sing song at the David Lloyd-Jones Home. This was a most enjoyable hour, with the ladies and gentlemen joining in on some of the songs.

ANN LANDERS High Or Low Forehead No Indication Of I.Q.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a children must support their parents. Last month she handed me two bills. One was a payment on their new TV. The other was an overdue repair bill from the garage (they have two cars).

Three years ago a couple of my girl friends started to tell me how to wear my hair so my forehead wouldn't be so noticeable. They suggested bangs, but it didn't help much. I still felt like the ugliest girl in town, no matter where I went. I also felt like the dumbest, because people with low foreheads, according to the reading I've done, are slow learners and have low I.Q.'s.

The first thing I notice about a person is his forehead. The groovy kids always have high foreheads. The losers have low foreheads. Like mine.

Please tell me what to do about this lousy break in life. Am I doomed?—Kid Sister Of Zorba.

Dear Kid: It is not true that people with high foreheads are more intelligent than people with low foreheads. This myth is in the same category as the theory that closely spaced eyes are a sign of sneakiness and a receding chin indicates weak character and a lack of initiative.

Since your low forehead is making you so miserable, I suggest that you discuss it with your parents and ask permission to go to a dermatologist. He might recommend a hair removal expert. It is possible to have your forehead "raised" by altering your hairline.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother is in her mid-50s. She is in good health and works as a registered nurse. Dad works part-time. They get behind in their bills now and then but who doesn't?

The problem is this: I am happily married to a nice guy. We are both 27. We have two pre-schoolers and only one income. There are many things we need, but we are careful and manage to get by O.K. My mother keeps telling me that according to the law,

Alan Claridge Reports CAC Includes Variety Of Topics

YOYAMA (Special) — Alan Claridge, president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers Association recently returned from Ottawa where he attended the Canadian Agricultural Congress held in the capital from March 24 to 27. The purpose of meeting was to bring together representatives of producer groups, provincial governments, faculties of universities, consumer groups, processors and representatives of the retail trade.

A ponderous and involved study was tabulated on some of the papers presented that had been prepared by the agricultural task force and the Royal Commission on farm machinery. Some of the material studied included credit, role of government, dairy, low income sector, fruits and vegetables, livestock and poultry.

The government hoped to get a cross section of opinion indicating the direction that agriculture in Canada will take over the near and distant future.

Many different opinions emerged from these topics and the opportunity to discuss such problems with the varied group of Canadians was one Mr. Claridge found to be profoundly stimulating and interesting.

Sixty Pensioners Attend Regional

WINFIELD (Special) — The Old Age Pensioners Organization Regional Council was held in the centennial room of the Memorial Hall recently and attended by 60 members and visitors from branches encompassing Keremeos to Chase.

The meeting got underway at 11 a.m. with Mrs. C. Bush in the chair. Regional business and resolutions for the forthcoming provincial convention were the main items on the agenda.

The members of the Winfield branch served a hot luncheon at noon, following which Mrs. Russell Stanley played the piano and a short sing-song was enjoyed by all.

A short afternoon business session completed the council.

Rebekah - Oddfellow Party Enjoyed

A card party sponsored jointly by Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 36 and Orchard City No. 59, convened by Mrs. Ruby Cosner was a successful affair recently. Prize winners were—Bridge: First, Mrs. Mina Anderson, ladies; first, M. Downing, gentlemen; consolation, L. P. Lokin. Whist: First, ladies, Mrs. Frank Yeoman; first, James Gibb, gentlemen; consolation, Gertrude Gibb.

All voted the evening a huge success and members of both Lodges are looking forward to the next social which will be open to the public, when a pot-luck supper is planned with cards and dancing to live music to follow.

WANT UNIT PRICING GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Bruce Jackson, Kitchener, a graduate food chemist and nutritionist, told a farm women's audience here that an increasing number of consumers are asking that unit pricing be used for grocery items. Most people haven't the computer-type brains to cope with the demands of modern shopping, she said.

TWO VICTORIES

Nice Welcome To Expansion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early or late, expansion is great and the American League's two new clubs used opposing formulas Tuesday to win their opening games by identical scores.

Seattle Pilots struck early, erupting for four runs in the first inning, and held off California Angels 4-3 in a night game at Anaheim. Kansas City Royals nipped Minnesota Twins 4-3 in 12 innings.

In another night contest, Oakland Athletics whipped Chicago White Sox 5-2, while world champion Detroit Tigers trimmed Cleveland Indians 6-2 and Boston Red Sox edged Baltimore Orioles 5-4 in 12 innings during the afternoon.

Seattle's Tommy Harper led off against Jim McGlothlin with a double and Mike Hegan homered. Tommy Davis' single, a hit batsman, a walk and Gerry McNetney's single added two more runs.

The Angels scored in the second on three singles, on Jim Fregosi's homer in the fifth and on two walks, a sacrifice and an infield out in the ninth.

Hegan crashed into the right field wall and was knocked cold trying to catch Bobby Knapp's drive in the second inning. He suffered a sprained left wrist and bruised hip.

The Royals tied Minnesota 3-3 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth, but couldn't win it until the 12th before 17,688 fans who welcomed baseball back to Kansas City after a one-year absence.

OPENS THE DOOR

Harmon Killebrew's error opened the door for two unearned runs in the sixth. Joe Foy began the winning rally in the 12th with a one-out infield hit and a passed ball and two intentional walks around a wild pitch filled the bases.

Then Joe Kough drilled a single over right fielder Tony Oliva's head. Lou Piniella, acquired last week from Seattle, paced the Royals with a double and three singles. Graig Nettles homered for the Twins.

Denny McLain held Cleveland to three hits and Al Kaline walloped a two-run homer as Detroit opened defence of its 1968 pennant. McLain, who was treated Monday for an inflamed pitching shoulder, blanked the Indians over the last seven innings after yielding a homer to Larry Brown in the first and another run in the second.

Norm Cash's two-run double off Luis Tiant tied the game in the third and Kaline connected two innings later. A record Detroit opening day crowd of 53,572 was on hand.

A sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Dalton Jones delivered the winning run as the Red Sox downed the Orioles before 36,100 in Baltimore.

Boston's Tony Conigliaro and Baltimore's Frank Robinson traded two-run homers in the 10th. It was Conigliaro's first since Aug. 8, 1967, 10 days before he was beaned by a pitch that threatened to end his career. Mark Belanger also homered for the Orioles.

Chicago's Gary Peters was breezing with a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning when Sal Bando and Danny Cater singled for Oakland and Dick Green slammed a three-run homer. That was, all John (Blue Moon) Odom needed as he spun a three-hitter, but the A's added two insurance runs in the seventh.

The game in Oakland drew 23,610.

DENNY McLAIN LEADS TIGERS

Expos Exposed To Initial Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres wasted little time striking a blow for the National League's expansion clubs—for and against them.

The Expos and Padres made their debuts Tuesday in the league's latest expansion with victories, but the victims were the league's first expansion teams—New York Mets and Houston Astros.

The Expos swung first in the afternoon, flooring New York 11-10, leaving the Mets the only expansion club still looking for an opening day victory. The Padres followed at night with a 2-1 decision over the Astros.

In other games Chicago Cubs and Ernie Banks defeated Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 in 11 innings. Felix Millan slugged his first grand slam homer as Atlanta Braves topped San Francisco Giants 10-2, and Pittsburgh Pirates struggled 14 innings to subdue St. Louis Cardinals 6-2.

Montreal unloaded against the Mets' Tom Seaver, Cal Koonce, Al Jackson and Ron Taylor of Toronto as pitcher Dan McGinn, Rusty Staub and finally Jose Laboy walloped homers.

Laboy, a minor league player for 10 years, unloaded with two on in the eighth inning for a decisive 11-6 lead before a disappointed crowd of 44,541 in New York.

MADE IT CLOSE

The Mets made it close with four runs in the ninth, three on rookie Duffy Dyer's pinch hitting and two on a double by New York outfielder Monty Strickland, but real 15-12, and to add to the insult, the winning pitcher was former Met Don Shaw.

Canadians Invaded Stadium For Opening Baseball Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Montreal Expos couldn't have picked a better team to make their major-league debut with. New York Mets were perfect hosts and made the Expos feel right at home.

For example, the Mets had Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal throw out the first ball Tuesday. They had Maureen Forrester, a Canadian opera star, sing the Canadian national anthem—half in French and half in English.

They had the Canadian color guard from College Militaire Royal in St. Jean, Que., participate in the flag raising ceremonies.

Then the game started, and Met second baseman Ken Boswell made three errors and Met pitchers gave up the first major-league home run—by pitcher Dan McGinn and third baseman Coco Laboy.

The Mets also gave the Expos an 11-10 victory, passing up the chance to win their first opening day game in their eight-year history.

"It's the damndest opening day game I've ever seen," said Gene Mauch, the Expos' manager, after the three-hour and 35 minute game. "Both clubs were keyed up. Both were loosey goosey with those bats."

"I still think we're a much better ball club than last year," said Gil Hodges, the Mets' manager.

For the record, first baseman Bob Bailey drove in the Expos' first and second runs with a first-inning double.

Pitcher McGinn hit the first homer in Expo history, lofting a 371-foot fly ball that bounced off the top of the right field wall in the fourth inning. He also threw the Expos' first wild pitch and committed their first balk.

It was Laboy's homer, however, that was the winning blow. The rookie, playing his first major league game, after 10 years in the minors, hit the three-run blast off Ron Taylor, a native of Toronto.

"When I went to the plate," the 28-year-old Puerto Rican said, "I see we got one out and two men on base. I was thinking I just wanted to try and hit the ball up the middle, just make contact. Then when I got two strikes, I just wanted to protect the plate. I was happy when I hit it, really happy."

Big Season Lies Ahead For City Senior Softball

Senior B softball is apparently heading for its most successful season ever in the Okanagan. Plans have been put forward by the league for the coming season, scheduled to get underway May 4. Five teams will again compete, probably in a 30-game schedule.

The teams are: Royal Anne Royals, Willow Inn Willows, Kelowna Carlings, Rutland Rovers and Vernon O'Keefes. All the teams were represented Tuesday at the league's annual meeting.

In addition to launching the season, the Kelowna and District Senior B League is also hoping to bring the B.C. finals to this city. Rudy Runzer, district supervisor for the B.C. Softball Association, will take Kelowna's bid to officials in Vancouver some time in May.

If the bid is accepted, the top teams from throughout British Columbia will play here for the provincial championship.

After regular - season play among the five teams, the top four will likely go into the playoffs. The team finishing first will play the third-place team while the second-place and fourth-place teams will tangle in the other semi-final.

The two winners will then meet in the league finals. All series are expected to be best-of-five affairs.

All regular-season games will be seven innings.

The five teams are expected to begin practices this weekend and all of the team officials are hoping for large turn-outs. They expect several positions to be open on every team.

Elections were also held at the Tuesday meeting with Fred Westen elected as president. Vince Lutz is vice-president and Rod Bennett secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was attended by more than 30 people, one of the larger turnouts in recent years. The league will just get under way when the annual May Day Tournament arrives during the long weekend of May 19. This tourney is one of the most successful in the province and annually attracts the top teams from throughout the province. The tourney will last three days.

Seals Put 'Spasmodic Effort' Into Series With Los Angeles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fred Glover is unhappy with his Oakland Seals, currently tied 2-2 with Los Angeles Kings in the National Hockey League's Western Division semi-finals.

The two teams meet tonight at Oakland in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series. Winner of the series meets St. Louis Blues, who disposed of Philadelphia Flyers in four straight games.

Glover said Tuesday his club has been giving a "spasmodic effort" and expressed hope it could put together a consistent game.

"We're not a fancy club," the coach said. "We have to work hard and work hard all the time."

He didn't name names but added: "It hasn't been a case of all our men letting down subconsciously, but some do."

Montreal Canadiens were pleased with centre Henri Richard during Montreal's four game rout of New York Rangers in the Eastern Division semi-finals.

Odds makers have installed Montreal as 7/10 to 5 favorites over Boston Bruins who took four games to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs in their semi-final.

The Montreal-Boston Eastern Division final opens in Montreal Thursday.

COLLECT FIVE POINTS

Richard and Dick Duff are Montreal's top scorers in the playoffs, both with five points.

"I don't know what's making the difference," Richard said. "All I know is that I felt better in the last two games against the Rangers than I had all season."

Meanwhile, Montreal coach Claude Ruel saw two veteran Stanley Cup performers, Gump Worsley and Claude Provost, return to the ice for a Tuesday practice.

Worsley left the fourth New York game Sunday with a sore knee. He was in the nets for the first three wins over New York.

Provost pulled a thigh muscle in the first game of the Rangers series and had been out of action since.

During regular season play, the Bruins held a 4-2-2 edge over Montreal and Ruel said his team is up against a "well-balanced" club.

He said he likely will start centre Ralph Backstrom against high-scoring Boston centre Phil Esposito, with left winger John Ferguson watching Ken Hodges and Provost on Ron Murphy.

LOOKS FOR REVENGE

Boston coach Harry Sinden is looking for a little revenge.

"We have plenty to motivate us," he said. "Don't think our guys forget about the way we were embarrassed last year when the Canadiens took us four straight."

Sinden said he was disappointed with the schedule which has the second game scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Montreal and the next games Thursday, April 17, and Sunday, April 20, in Boston.

"I don't like the idea of sitting around two and three days between games, but I suppose it works the same for both teams."

In another development, Jack Riley, general manager of Pittsburgh Penguins, said he would talk with George (Funch) Imlach, Toronto manager-coach who was fired Sunday, about the Penguins' coaching job.

Coach Red Sullivan was fired March 31 after Pittsburgh finished in a tie for fifth place with Minnesota North Stars in the Western Division.

However, Riley said Imlach was not the only prospect he was considering.

"We'll have to consider Rudy Migay seriously," he said.

Migay is coach of the Penguins' Amarillo, Tex., farm club in the Central Hockey League.

Battling—Ernie Banks of Chicago Cubs, and Don Money, of Philadelphia Phillies, both hit two homers and a single and batted in five runs in game won by the Cubs 7-6 in 11 innings.

Pitching—Dick Selma, of San Diego Padres hurled a five-hitter and struck out 12 as San Diego's expansion team won its opening game, beating Houston 2-1.

But the Hull defence tightened and allowed Canadiens only seven shots on goal in the final period compared with Beavers' 22.

Early in the second the Beavers made it 3-0 as Ken Quail topped off a smooth passing combination.

Paul Ellis started the Canadiens' comeback at 5:21 of the second and Hal Demchuk added another early in the third by blasting a slapshot between the pads of Hull goalie Wayne Hughes.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

The British Columbia amateur boxing championships scheduled for Vancouver Thursday will open a series of tournaments aimed at selecting a national team.

Dave Brown, B.C. boxing champion, said the best of the B.C. boys will go to the Western Canada Championships in Calgary May 3. The western winners will meet the best of the east at a show in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens "probably in the last week of May."

Tom Rudy of Seattle University scored two holes in one only six holes apart at the Sand Point Golf Club Tuesday in Seattle.

He used a wedge on the 145-yard ninth to bounce the ball into the cup. On the 150-yard 18th hole, he hit a six iron and again the ball bounced into the hole.

For his round, Rudy scored a 70, two under par.

Hap Emms, coach of Niagara Falls Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series, said Tuesday he has not made up his mind about taking a managerial position with Canada's national hockey team.

The veteran hockey executive said: "Sometime this month, I'll submit a report to the Hockey Canada board. It will be fairly extensive—about five or six pages."

"I'm not trying to be hard to get. I'll be glad to help any way that I can to give Canada a representative team. I don't care who gets the job—it's impossible to put a winning team on the ice with the players accessible."

Organizers said their lawyers had advised that provincial approval of the bylaw would be necessary to prevent the possibility of "protracted legal proceedings and possible injunctions."

ORGANIZERS PULL OUT
The province said such approval was not necessary.

The organizers then gave up, asking that third reading of the proposed enabling bylaw not be given, adding they "might rightly be accused of acting in bad faith were we to invite citizens of Metropolitan Toronto to participate in the financing of a venture which might be successfully attacked in the courts."

So the view from the doorsteps of the good burghers of Toronto will remain as it has always been in that area—sunset over a polluted lake; and the odors will be those familiar ones of corn-on-the-cob and fish and chips on a summer evening.

And Toronto can return to its other pressing problem—where to place the second-hand statue of Edward VII donated by a public-spirited citizen.

LOOKING FOR MASTERS TRIUMPH

George Knudson, exploding his ball from a bunker below, leads a strong Canadian contingent into the Masters Golf Tournament, scheduled to begin Thursday at Augusta, Georgia. Along with Knudson, Toronto's Al Balding looks as the biggest Canadian threat. Balding won more than $3,000 in last week's Greater Greensboro Open while Knudson stunned the golfing world last year with back-to-back victories on the golfing tour. Knudson won more money on the tour last year than any Canadian ever before.

Get-Rich-Quick Method Applies To Only A Few

NEW YORK (AP) — The Big Exacta or the Big Perfecta is bringing sudden riches to a few lucky bettors at race tracks.

The largest payoffs so far are nowhere near the record returns in the Twin Double which fell into disfavor several years ago.

Still the $55,000 Arthur W.
Ponzo, public works commissioner of Atlantic City, N.J., collected after winning the Big Exacta at the Liberty Bell trotting track in Philadelphia on March 24, was the most satisfying return for a $2 bet.

Similarly, the $55,369 an unidentified tourist from Maryland won on the Big Perfecta at Tropical Park in Florida last Dec. 28 and the $51,994 won by a Miami taxicab driver a few days earlier at the same thoroughbred track were not shrugged off as insignificant.

The record payoff in the now discarded Twin Double system of betting, in which the winner had to combine the victors of four designated races, is the $172,726.80 at Roosevelt Raceway, a harness racing plant at Westbury, N.Y. on Sept. 10, 1964.

The second largest TD payoff
was the $171,044.60 at Yonkers,
N.Y. Raceway, another trotting oval, on Oct. 21, 1964. The same year, on April 22, Gulfstream

Park in Florida reported an $84,692.20 payoff, the largest Twin Double at a thoroughbred track.

PICK EXACT FINISH
When the Twin Double was discarded most of the tracks substituted the Perfecta or Exacta in which the bettor must pick the exact finish of the first two horses. This is different from the Big Quinella in which it doesn't matter how the two horses picked by the bettor finish as long as they are the first two under the wire.

In the Big Perfecta and the Big Exacta the bettor must couple the exact one-two order of finish in two races. Thus Ponzo won his $55,000 by picking the first and second horses in the eighth and ninth races at Liberty Bell.

Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, the country's two largest harness racing plants, have preferred the Exacta which is held on four races nightly in addition to the Daily Double.

Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga, the thoroughbred tracks run by the New York Racing Association, shun the Exacta, Big Exacta or Big Per-fecta as they did the Twin Double. The Daily Double is the big thing at the NYRA tracks.

Soviet Hopeful In Moon Race

BELGRADE (AP) — A Soviet
spaceman, Lt. Col. Vladimir Shatalov, was quoted today as saying the Soviet Union wants to be first to land a man on the moon.

"Six, seven and perhaps more months" of preparation, indicating the Soviets don't think the Americans can realize their plans to make a moon landing in July.

The second largest TD payoff
was the $171,044.60 at Yonkers,
N.Y. Raceway, another trotting
oval, on Oct. 21, 1964. The same year, on April 22, Gulfstream

Floods Swamp U.S. Mid-West Rivers fed with melting snows have flooded areas of three Upper Mid-West states, taking the life of a second Minnesotan and forcing hundreds to evacuate their homes.

WORLD IN BRIEF
DUCK DEVELOPMENTS
VANCOUVER (CP) — Ducks Unlimited has announced plans for three water retention developments in B.C. this year to provide breeding, nesting and staging areas for waterfowl using the Pacific flyway. Areas to be developed by the conservation organization are in the Creston district, the Big Horn project on the Gang Ranch, 30 miles southeast of Williams Lake, and assistance in the development of the Relfel waterfowl refuge at the mouth of the Fraser River.

REFERENDUM LOSES
NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —
Only about 1,800 of the more than 11,000 eligible New Westminster school district ratepayers voted Wednesday as a special $83,368 referendum was defeated. The count was 55 per cent in favor, with 996 voting for and 794 voting against, but the measure required approval by 60 per cent of the ballots cast.

TAX BOOST FORECAST
VANCOUVER (CP) — A tax increase of 7.5 per cent on the average house in Vancouver is forecast for 1969-70 in a preliminary report to city council.
This would be less than half the 16.3 per cent increase originally forecast by the city's finance department.

DEVELOPMENT COSTLY
More than $200,000,000 is being spent annually on the development of national, provincial and municipal roads in South Africa.

ANY IDEAS?
Exasperated officials in England are met by protest groups wherever they select site for new third airport around the nation's capital. A cartoonist summed up problem by suggesting alternative plan of moving London. City expects to be handling 80,000-000 air travellers by 1980, compared with 15,000,000 in 1967.

COMBINE EDUCATION

McKim is firm on one point: there must be educational opportunities for the 40 team members. Agreed one member: "No education, no skating; that's the way we look at it."

McKim concedes it would be a long grind for a team member to get a degree at the rate of one semester a year. "But any university education is better than none."

As things stand now, skiers can attend summer semesters at Simon Fraser University Burnaby, B.C., or the University of Guelph, in Ontario. Or they can go to other schools and miss classes in winter.

The high school students miss classes for two or three weeks at a time and team officials suggest not much more can be done in this area. The team engages tutors when needed for younger members.

A dozen senior members of the team attend Notre Dame University in Nelson, B.C.
They've been away since the first week in November and are to return at the end of this month.

NDU's claim to athletic fame is the ski team, and the small, 550-student Roman Catholic university has been stretching its academic rules to assist the team members, as well as providing headquarters and scholarship funds which are matched by the Canadian Amateur Skating Association.

Notre Dame gives skiers reading assignments for the international ski circuit, gives them an extra month in spring to prepare for exams and lets them take a four-year degree program over five years.

NO REAL SOLUTION
"But this is not the solution," says McKim, echoed by Ernie Gare, NDU's athletic director. "It's just too tough on the skiers and it's tough on the faculty and administration as well."

McKim said Simon Fraser and Guelph don't provide a real answer either because their summer programs aren't broad enough. Neither, for example, has schools of engineering or nursing.

4,000 Longshoremens In Quebec Vote On New Agreement Today

MONTREAL (CP) — About 4,000 longshoremens in three Quebec province ports vote today on a new contract proposal that would increase job security to 2,200 dock workers.

The new three-year contract ers in Montreal and about 1,800 others in Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

Labor Minister Bryce Mack-sey said in announcing the agreement in principle Tuesday that it provides for additional pension benefits and wage increases as well as a greater job security.

But negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Association had agreed that no restrictions be placed on handling of container cargo.

The Shipping Federation of Canada agreed in return to establish a displacement fund to protect longshoremen against technological innovations—such as containerization—in the handling of cargo.

Brian Mulroney, counsel for the shipping federation, said agreement on container clauses may enable the port of Montreal to attract new business.

Louis Laberge, Quebec vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress and union nominee on the conciliation board, said the job-security provisions of the proposed contract are the best longshoremen have ever had.

The agreement was reached after negotiations involving the union, the shipping federation,
Mr. Macksey and Associate
Chief Justice Alan Gold of Quebec provincial court, who acted as mediator in the dispute.

There were reports that the average wage increase is 85 cents over the three-year term of the contract. This would bring the hourly rate to $4.60 in the third year.

The technological displacement fund is to be built on management contributions based on tonnage of cargo handled at the three affected ports.

Montreal is the first port on the Atlantic seaboard at which the ILA had agreed not to restrict containerization.

A spokesman for the newly-formed Maritime Employers' Association said the agreement will come into effect next Sunday if it is ratified by union members.

Shipping on the St. Lawrence though the port of Montreal has been open all winter.

CPR Planning To Spend $100,000,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific plans to spend

Five Convicts Still At Large After Flight From Regina Jail

REGINA (CP)—Police Tuesday continued the search for five prisoners who broke out of the Regina Correctional Centre in the midst of an uproar Saturday night in the jail. Nine men have been recaptured.

The 14 made their break after an inmate overpowered a guard in a solitary confinement block and knocked him unconscious. The jail normally holds about 280 men either serving terms of less than two years or awaiting trials or appeals.

Those at large are:

David Thurston Brown, 39, of Toronto, who was awaiting trial on charges of kidnapping a Regina city policeman last December; robbery, attempted car theft and possession of an offensive weapon;

Leonard James Finlayson, 18, of La Ronge, Sask., who was to be released at the end of his term June 17, 1970;

Dennis Hahn, 19, of Regina, who was awaiting an appeal on a sentence of three years for forcibly seizing a Regina creamery manager in January and unlawfully confining two of the manager's neighbors;

Gary Francis Fiddler, 19, of Regina, whose term for two theft convictions was to finish Nov. 25; and

Ian Herrod, 18, of Saskatoon, who was due for release Sept. 14.

Eight of the 14 had been recaptured by Sunday afternoon and police caught a ninth Monday morning at Broadview, 90 miles east of here.

BIOT FOLLOWED

The break was followed by a 2½ hour riot Sunday afternoon in the jail, located on the northern outskirts of the city. RCMP quelled the disturbance and damage to the premises was estimated at about $3,000.

A Recall Job For Rolls

LONDON (AP)—For the first time in its 65-year history, Rolls-Royce Ltd. has recalled a number of its cars—5,000 to be exact—because of a possible defect.

The company said it would cost just £1 to set each of the expensive automobiles right.

Owners of the cars, which sell in North America for between $20,000 and $32,000, will not have to foot the bills or be without transportation for long. A Rolls-Royce spokesman said the company would pay for the alterations, and that the work can be completed in an hour.

The call in, involving a steering defect, concerns all 1966 and later models of the Rolls-Royce Silver Shadow and Bentley-T series.

"It is no question of the cars being unsafe to drive," a company official said. "No driver has complained to us. The fault was discovered during continuing tests."

Soviet Fleet Near Iberia

LONDON (Reuters)—Six Soviet warships and about eight submarines have been sighted off the southwestern tip of Portugal and may be heading into the Mediterranean, British defence officials said.

The RAF dispatched three long-range reconnaissance aircraft to Gibraltar, at the mouth of the Mediterranean, to keep watch on the ships, the officials said.

The vessels are part of the 20-ship Soviet navy squadron that steamed into the North Atlantic two weeks ago, they said. Reports at the time said they might be reinforcements for the Soviet Far East navy, but some of the ships now have returned to northern waters.

Present Soviet naval strength in the Mediterranean is estimated as one cruiser, nine destroyers escorts, one depot ship, two landing ships and about six submarines plus auxiliaries.

QE 2 Sails Into Calm

SOUTHAMPTON, England (Reuters)—The liner Queen Elizabeth 2 sailed into Southampton Tuesday and was pronounced cured of its which plagued the first weeks of its sea-going life.

"I think she is the most wonderful ship in the world," said Sir Basil Smallpeice, chairman of the Cunard line, after the liner completed its eight-day acceptance trials.

Smallpeice said he expects the ship to be handed over to Cunard by the builders April 18 and begin its maiden voyage to New York May 2, arriving there May 7. It would leave New York for the eastbound crossing May 9.

The Queen Elizabeth 2 ran into trouble on a trial run during Christmas. Engine trouble caused the ship to limp back into its home port.

Sir Arnold Lindley, an expert called in by the government to investigate the engine trouble, said today: "I think we can regard the troubles with the turbines as something in the past."

Smallpeice said the $30,000,000 liner handled well during its latest trials and at one point averaged 32.66 knots for a six-hour stretch.

The Cunard chairman said he expected the ship to bring in gross revenue of about $10,000,000 a year.

Opening lead—seven of hearts.

When declarer has a choice of two methods of play, he naturally selects the one that offers the greater chance of success. He chooses what is called the percentage play.

For an application of the principle, consider this hand where West leads a spade and declarer sees that the slam will go down only if he loses two diamond tricks. He therefore concentrates solely on the problem of restricting himself to one diamond loser.

He realizes that the diamonds may be so divided that he must lose two tricks whatever he does. But he also realizes that if the suit is favorably distributed, he can make the contract.

South lays his plans accordingly. He wins the ace of hearts and ruffs a heart. Then, after drawing two rounds of trumps, he cashes three spades, discarding a diamond from dummy. Next he crosses to dummy with a trump and leads a diamond, East following low.

Now comes the crucial decision. If South makes the percentage play of the ace, no defence can beat the contract. Assume West plays the ten on the ace. South then continues with a low diamond, which West wins with the king.

West is forced to return a spade or a heart, and in either case dummy discards a diamond as South ruffs in his hand. Declarer now ruffs a diamond in dummy and his work is done.

It may be argued that this method of play would fail if it turned out that East's diamonds were the K-Q-3. In that case only the finesse of the jack would make the slam.

This is true enough, but the fact is that the play of the ace will win far more often than the play of the jack. The recommended play (jack whenever West has the singleton or doubleton king or queen, or the tripleton king or queen).

These combinations occur far more often than those where East has both the king and queen.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

A highly stimulating day! All sound business and financial affairs should run smoothly, show gain. In personal relationships, be discreet, however—especially in the P.M. Some persons may be overly sensitive; will need extremely tactful handling.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your planetary chart for the year ahead is marked with several highly high spots. There's indication, for instance, of great improvement in your financial status; also in job and business interests—to say nothing of increased prestige and personal popularity. All this, of course, provided that you cooperate with stellar help and do not hope to have benefits handed to you on the proverbial silver platter. For specific advice:

Take advantage of all opportunities to advance monetary interests between now and June 30. Then consolidate gains over a two-month period, and look forward to another splendid four-month cycle of expansion along these lines, beginning with Sept. 1. Despite the rosy outlook, however, DO avoid extravagance in early August and resist any temptation to speculate in November. Best periods for career advancement and recognition: The balance of this month, July, September, November, December and February. A business transaction, well-handled, should work out very profitably within the next 10 days.

Happiest note of all, perhaps, is the fine outlook in your personal life. In the field of romance, look for some interesting developments between early May and late September; also in late October and December. Travel—and social—activities should prove exceptionally stimulating in July, August, October and December.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a magnetic personality and will be a natural leader in whatever his field of endeavor.

NEW KELOWNA CHAMBER of Commerce mascot? More like the sheep-dog cross, Beethoven, who arrived at the chamber's offices at the gates to the city last week after coming out second best in an argument with a skunk. Rather than supporting his chamber of commerce, as the sign reads, he is letting the sign and the counter support him as he leans against it with chamber employees Mrs. Doreen Belleau (left) and Connie Marlow. The Wrong Chord Entirely If Beethoven Heard This

By ERIC NELSON
Courier Staff

Beethoven would roll over if he knew a skunk-smelling rag-tag sheep dog was named after him.

That's all right though, because his name used to be Napoleon, when Jose owned him.

Who's Jose? Jose Rodriguez? Jose is a 17-year-old Mexican farm boy who lives 1,000 miles south of the border from Nogales, Ariz. He had Beethoven on the end of an old rope behind his bicycle as the two of them beelied along Mexican Highway 15 sometime early in February.

From a fate of certain death — from the coming fry of the Mexican summer, and rapid starvation in the lean Mexican outback—Beethoven (alias Napoleon) was rescued by a young man, making his home in the Okanagan.

And now Beethoven, one of the Valley's most widely-travelled dogs, has been officially recognized and welcomed to Kelowna by the chamber of commerce.

Well it wasn't official really; he just sort of took it upon himself to present his bedraggled furry mass at the chamber's offices for the tag to the city early last week.

From the imperious way he sat under the Support Your Chamber of Commerce sign, he must have thought it was high time he had license to the City of Kelowna.

His Mexican anti-rabies tag and a B.C. provincial dog license were dangling from his homestead collar, as he indignantly gazed into Courier photographer Kent Stevenson's lens.

"The City of Kelowna and then the world," might have been running through his travel weary and dog-tired brain.

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce manager Bill Stevenson had said, "There's a lost sheep-dog at the offices, soaked and dismissed as a skunk — 'wheew', what a smell. He's wondering how to get across the lake, it looks like he just swam across."

CREDIT DESERVED

"The girls have him inside, and boy they deserve a lot of credit for hanging onto him."

Beethoven (variously called Napoleon, Beethoven P. (for Polar) Bear, Thoven, Pedro, Pancho), was purchased from Jose when his new owners were driving north from Mexico City, headed for the American border and Canada.

The high-moon Mexican sun was hot and with it, nerves frayed, as the young couple raced north against dwindling finances.

Their 28-year-old car, in spite of its more than 100,000 miles, was running steadily. The young woman who was driving, noticed it through the hot mountain turns and out onto a baked straight stretch of road, they recalled.

They were travelling alone, with luggage packed flat across the back seat and covered with a tarp, and they were apparently talking about their fathers' dogs at home.

All the way down to Mexico City tooth-pick thin dogs were seen in small towns and villages, and along the road, tugging stinking flesh from transport-struck horses and cows.

"I would have given my father's Gordon Setter about two months down there on that diet," the young man said in an interview, "about one month when the heat came. A long-haired dog wouldn't have a chance, especially if he was big and needed a lot to eat."

"Well we came to this straight stretch, a little way out of a village called San Miguel. The country was red-brown except for a pale green sage brush, with dry, dusty paths running through it to the old farm house."

"We were doing about 65 when we passed a boy on a bike trailing this giant sheep-dog behind him on the end of a dirty old piece of hemp," he said. "They were going the other way."

"Did you see that?" I said to my wife, "that's no Mexican dog!"

He said they drove on for five miles or so before they decided between them that the shaggy animal was definitely not a Mexican dog, and that in fact he had probably gotten away or had been stolen from one of the hundreds of Americans on the road with their camper units and trailers.

"As a matter of fact I think that very dog started with Fred MacMurray in the movie The Shaggy Dog," I told my wife. So they turned around and went back to talk with the young Mexican lad, who, when they drove up, was having a hard time keeping the dog under control.

"Hello, what's your name," they said to the boy in Spanish. "Jose Rodriguez (the rough equivalent of Joe Smith)?"

"Si," said the boy.

And for a $20 American bill the young couple became the new owners of Napoleon. Before they had been alone together, but now they were suddenly three.

"Jose, say adios to Napoleon," the young man said to the Mexican youth, and self-consciously the boy reached down, took the dog's shaggy white paw and shook it sadly. "Adios Napoleon."

The couple had led the dog to their old car, but just before scrambling in he hesitated, and looked longingly after the boy riding his bicycle down the highway and away.

"So we three lost souls went on our way to Mazatlan together," the young man recalled. "There, with the help of an American friend, Conrad Benson, we got the dog vaccinated for the rest of the trip back to Canada, through the States."

The couple told how they had

Top Public Servants Range Should Be Wider, Says Turner

EDMONTON (CP) — Justice Minister John Turner said today he would like to see a wider range of top public servants appointed to the cabinet.

Mr. Turner said he would like to see the cabinet have power to fill posts at the assistant deputy minister "and even the director level."

At present, cabinet authority to appoint is limited to the deputy minister level.

This includes the appointment of presidents and a few other top-level posts in crown corporations such as the CNR and CBC.

Mr. Turner mentioned the matter while ranging over a broad series of topics in a breakfast address to members of the Laurier Club here.

He said he will:

—Put before the cabinet next week amendments to the Official Languages Bill aimed at heading off a confrontation with the west over the proposed legislation. However, if western premiers forced a showdown in the Supreme Court of Canada, he personally would place the federal case before the court.

—Bring before Parliament a federal expropriation bill, the first extensive change to the act since 1952, in about three weeks.

The expropriation changes would affect all federal departments and agencies but the CNR. Any new law affecting the CNR would come later and would have to apply to the privately-owned CPR to avoid unfair treatment.

Mr. Turner said the Trudeau administration will treat issues such as oil and gas tax reform, wheat and trade with the Pacific rim in "a far more realistic manner" than they have been approached in the last four or five years.

"We're highly conscious of the alienation of the west," he said.

"As a party, we are determined not to make the same mistakes of the previous administration."

It's Not 'Toronto The Good' As Far As Streets Concerned

TORONTO (CP) — Night-time attacks have made Toronto streets unsafe for women alone after dark, Deputy Police Chief Bernard Simmonds warned today.

Attacks on women have become general across the city, the deputy chief said. "An attack could take place in the downtown area tonight and in one of the boroughs tomorrow night."

He said "a good scream is probably better than anything else" in scaring off assailants who usually follow their victims to a dark and deserted section of a street.

"The best advice is to be alert," he said. "If someone is close behind, cross to the other side of the street or go to a door where a light is on. Don't take shortcuts."

Last month, 23-year-old Yvonne Dorion of Moncton,

N.B., was stabbed in the back with a steak knife in a midnight assault only six doors from her Toronto rooming house. Miss Dorion was left temporarily paralysed and police have attributed the attack to a mentally deranged person.

Since the first of the year, more than 130 purse-snatchings have been reported to the police. Inspector Fern Alexander, chief of the police youth bureau, says juveniles, who commit three times as many crimes as adults, have switched from hoodlums to "purse snatching, gang assaults, and extortion and threats."

More and more are carrying weapons, she said.

The rising level of attacks has made many women fear to go out alone at night and taxi-cab drivers report an increasing number of short-ride fares.

Nixon Administration 'Changes' Reasons For Missile Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading Senate opponent of President Nixon's missile defence program says the administration keeps changing its reasons for building the controversial Safeguard system.

"We have had a whole series of rationalizations for Safeguard from the administration," Democrat George S. McGovern of South Dakota said. "They keep changing them all the time. Now it seems to me they are escalating the terror rather than giving us any enlightenment."

McGovern commented in an interview shortly after Defence Secretary Melvin R. Laird told a group of European reporters visiting the Pentagon Monday that the Soviet Union is testing a triple warhead for its big SS-9 rocket.

Laird has cited deployment of the SS-9—without extra warheads—as reason for deploying Safeguard. He said Monday that mounting triple warheads on the SS-9 would give Russia triple the punch it is expected to have by 1973 and the capability to knock out the Minuteman missiles comprising the main U.S. deterrent.

"I'm not talking about intentions," Laird said, "but about capability."

At about the same time, State Secretary William P. Rogers was telling a news conference that he can't understand why the Soviets are installing the SS-9 at all. He said this will be one of the first questions to be taken up with them in any arms-limitation talks.

Senators Richard B. Russell (Dem. Ga.), a top Senate authority on military matters, and Senator Henry M. Jackson (Dem. Wash.), who turned down Nixon's offer of the defence secretaryship, both have cited the SS-9 as a prime reason for installing the anti-missile system known as Safeguard.

Jackson said the United States has no multiple-warhead missile in its arsenal. Russell said the United States is working toward development of such a weapon.

While McGovern conceded the SS-9 might be capable of a first strike designed to wipe out U.S. land-based missiles, he said administration officials are "evidently silent" about the retaliatory power of U.S. Polaris-equipped submarines.

"It's only in the last couple of weeks that they have been talking about this first strike threat to justify Safeguard," he said. "They don't mention that we have a second strike capability in our submarines that could wipe the Russians out, and the Russians know it."

"We're all guessing about Russian intentions. But even if they were foolish enough to try a first strike and to knock out our land-based missiles, they can't touch our submarines."

The Soviets are estimated to have 200 operational SS-9s with current deployment expected to give them 500 by 1973. With triple nuclear tips, they would have 1,500 warheads to the 1,000 U.S. Minutemen with a single warhead.

Language Bill Given Reading

FREDERICTON (CP) — A major languages bill, giving both English and French equal status, rights and privileges, was given first reading in the New Brunswick legislature Tuesday.

The bill, introduced by Premier Louis J. Robichaud, will allow all New Brunswickers "where they live in sufficient numbers" to be educated in the language of their choice and will permit them to use either tongue during court proceedings, in the legislature or in municipal government assemblies.

Full Political Merger 'Would Boost Maritimes'

HALIFAX (CP) — Full political union of the three Maritime provinces would save millions of dollars, says an Atlantic Provinces Economic Council (APEC) report released here.

The recommendation favoring political union of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island was made in a submission to the Maritime Union Study, a joint project of the three provincial governments being carried out by Fred Drummie, a former New Brunswick economic adviser, under the supervision of Dr. J. J. Deutsch, principal of Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., and former chairman of the Economic Council of Canada.

APEC describes the region's economic problems as being too big and its financial resources too small for the provinces to continue as separate entities.

It contends that amalgamation of the three governments would save millions of dollars and bring about greater efficiency in public services.

The council suggests that more than 10,000 of the 24,104 business world.

provincial civil servants could be dispensed with, giving a payroll saving of almost $38,000,000.

The report is not explicit about other savings except to say that one central data bank and computer centre should be more efficient than each province using its own facilities.

The three Maritime premiers were non-committal in commenting on the APEC recommendations, having earlier agreed to reserve judgment until the union study is completed.

Premier G. I. Smith of Nova Scotia said the APEC report was simply a part of what the study is trying to find out and "I am sure the commission will give all such recommendations very close attention."

Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island said he welcomed the council's brief, but "there will be more discussion of the subject on a provincial level when the study report is in." He said it was open to question whether APEC gave a majority view of the Maritimes.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud of New Brunswick said: "It would be premature for a politician to comment on the report."

Charles R. MacFadden of Halifax, council president, said the APEC submission was prepared by council staff and approved by its 18-member board of governors "after several meetings."

From an economic standpoint, union would result in more efficient use of the large federal government contributions to Maritime government revenues, the report says.

Political union could alleviate the burden of provincial financing, which here, as in the rest of Canada, has been growing faster than revenue sources.

The council believes that "political union... must be a forerunner to administrative, judicial and economic union."

"Without political union, APEC sees the Maritime provinces having to seek more and more federal money for public services, winding up as 'mere colonies of Ottawa.'"

The report envisages a united province of about 1,500,000 souls—the fifth largest—having a louder voice in federal-provincial affairs than three voices, each speaking for less than 800,000 persons.

The council makes no reference to Newfoundland, which is not participating in the Maritime union study. Neither does it mention any disadvantages of union.

America Is Prosperous Now But Bills Still Hard To Pay

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans now are paying higher taxes, higher interest rates and higher prices than a year ago. Oddly, in the midst of prosperity, they find themselves rationing money and straining to pay bills.

This is the penalty of inflation, and the worst may yet be ahead. Since wholesale prices are still rising rather sharply, more increases in consumer product prices are inevitable. The peak is still ahead.

The descent from inflation may be even more painful. It could mean even higher interest rates, bigger down payments on houses, more unemployment. Controls on wages and prices are a possibility. Even higher taxes cannot be ruled out.

These are among the darkest prospects. But one event could ease pressures dramatically. This is the possibility of a ceasefire in Vietnam, followed by a sharp cut in military spending.

And the bright side of the present economy should not be overlooked. It is the most bountiful in U.S. history. People may not have all the money they need for purchases, but that's generally because they want to purchase so much.

ALL WANT MONEY

This desire is widespread. The federal government asks more money for cities. State governments must spend for transportation. Local governments must build schools and water and sewer lines. Everyone is spending.

Spending becomes excessive when it exceeds the economy's ability to produce goods to be bought. When that happens the available goods are bid up in price.

Since there usually is a shortage of skilled labor in times of serious inflation, wages are bid up also. Employers are willing to pay more. And workers have the bargaining position to demand more.

When these pressures are set in motion they continue under their own energy, tugging and mauling each other until they spin in what is called an inflationary spiral.

Post Office Magazine Dies From 'New Mailing Costs'

The post office's magazine for its employees, The Postmark, has folded. Canadian Printer and Publisher, the trade magazine, says The Postmark could not continue under the new increased postal rates. The editor of the post office magazine, Edith Harvey, declined in Ottawa to give the reason for the demise, but said postal rates had nothing to do with the end of the magazine, which appeared 10 times a year and had a circulation of 33,000 in English and 11,000 in French. The Postmark has been in existence since 1939. Weekly newspapers in Canada, which have objected strenuously to the higher postal rates, have been giving as much publicity as possible to the death of The Postmark.

Republican Senator Paul Fannin will carry his campaign for a review of the Hal C. Banks case to State Secretary William Rogers with whom he has arranged a meeting next Monday in Washington. Although Fannin has expressed how the new Republican administration will pursue the matter "to a just conclusion" there is no indication the United States is interested in re-opening the case unless asked to do so by the Canadian government. Ottawa has expressed no such intention.

President Nixon's brother Tuesday turned down a $30,000-a-year post on Alaskan development. The commerce department, which announced last Friday that Edward C. Nixon, 38-year-old brother of the president, had been appointed to the job, said he had declined it "for personal reasons."

DR. GORDON SHRUM ... no increase

Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, said Monday there will be no increase in hydro rates during the next 12 months.

The celebrity guest at Bugaboo Lodge is hardly being begged at all. An RCMP spokesman said in Calgary that traffic has been light on the special radio link between RCMP here and Bugaboo Lodge, where Prime Minister Trudeau is enjoying a skiing holiday in the Purcell mountain range of southeastern British Columbia. "He's skiing and that's all we know," the spokesman said.

With the continuation of the inquest into the death of slain Victoria businessman William Oland to resume Monday, police officials are keeping mum about their investigation. Police Chief John Gregory said Tuesday there were "no further developments" in the case. He refused further comment. Six weeks ago the bludgeoned and weighted body of the 35-year-old man was recovered from the inner harbor. He was reported missing Feb. 3.

Foreign Minister Dinesh Singh gave India's indirect support Tuesday to the Soviet Union in the border dispute with Communist China. "We are not in favor of altering historically established borders," he said. "Should some grave differences arise they should be settled peacefully by bilateral discussions. We are against the use of force to change positions unilaterally."

Mexican officials indicated Tuesday in Los Angeles an attempt will be made to extradite Dykes Askew Simmons Jr., the 40-year-old Texas laborer who fled from Nuevo Leon state prison in Monterrey disguised as a woman. "If they take me back," Simmons said at a news conference, "I'll have to be in chains." An official of the Mexican prison called police here and asked them to take Simmons into custody. He had arrived on a flight from San Antonio, Tex., after fleeing prison Sunday.

The mother of Anthony Grey, Reuters correspondent under house arrest in Peking, Tuesday said in London she believed her recent letters did not reach her son. Ames Grey said six letters mailed to him in the last two months apparently had not been delivered. Grey, 30, has been confined to one room in his home in Peking for 21 months, although no charges have been made against him.

The lawyer for Rudolf Hess, onetime deputy of Adolf Hitler, says Hess is suffering from stomach, circulatory and eye ailments. Hess, lone prisoner of West Berlin's Spandau Prison, should be released because of ill health, the lawyer said. He will be 75 April 26. The lawyer, Alfred Seidl, did not specify the exact difficulties but said in Munich they "are not of an acute nature." Authoritative sources in Berlin, however, say Hess is in excellent health.

And in London, an enraged housewife ran onto a soccer field Tuesday, brought down the referee with a flying tackle and started beating him up in front of 26,000 cheering fans. It took five burly policemen—helmets knocked over their ears—to haul Sheila West off the prostrate referee and lug her out of the ground. Mrs. West, 30, went into action as Welsh referee Tom Reynolds blew the final whistle on a no-score tie between West Ham United and Stoke City. She said he showed discrimination against her team.

Most Prisoners Would Agree With This Judge's Opinion

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Judge Harry Andrews of Ontario's juvenile and family courts believes there are too many persons in jail. He also believes work camps should be set up in northern Canada for paroled prisoners with no jobs or homes, and has suggested that incorrigible criminals should be brainwashed.

What is needed, he says, are people who, by their kindness and interest, can accomplish more than someone trained to help families and children in trouble. Judge Andrews suggests a corps of businessmen, educators, blue- and white-collar workers which would try to get releases for prisoners. The corps would use its influence to provide ex-prisoners with opportunities for jobs and homes and access to people who can give emotional support. Such a program, he says, would help reduce Ontario's excessive prison population.

Judge Andrews has made other suggestions in the past which, he admits, the average person might not find so palatable. One of these is for "psychological lobotomies" for incorrigible criminals. It will be called brainwashing by civil rightists, he says, if prisoners are forced to undergo intensive "environmental and psychological therapy." "Well, why not if it works—use it," he says.

B.C. Courts Can't Adjudicate On Dispute With Nishga Indians

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia courts have no jurisdiction to deal with claims by the north coast Nishga Indians for court recognition of tribal lands and the Nishgas should carry the matter to Ottawa, a Vancouver lawyer said Tuesday.

Douglas McK. Brown, appearing for the B.C. Attorney General, said in B.C. Supreme Court that Indian affairs are the sole prerogative of the federal government and that only Ottawa can deal with the Nishga problem.

The lawyer warned Mr. Justice J. G. Gould that a ruling here against the Nishgas could spoil the Indians' chances of a favorable settlement with the federal government.

Mr. Brown said it is up to the Indians to negotiate with Ottawa or to start a suit in the federal Exchequer Court. "Certainly an issue such as this cannot be heard by a provincial court," he said.

MLA Tom Berger (NDP—Vancouver Burrard), counsel for the Nishgas, told the court the Indians are entitled to a declaration that they still own the land because it has never been lawfully taken from them. The land in dispute is in the Nass River valley area near Prince Rupert.

They Have A Smashing Time But Athens Doesn't Approve

ATHENS (AP) — Even though Aristotle Onassis enjoys the pastime, Greece's military government has banned the smashing of plates, glasses and tables that heightened the merriment in the country's tavernas.

The custom, said to have been brought by refugees from Asia Minor in 1922, is known as spasta. The revellers take the plates and glasses on the table and smash them to the floor. Then they dance on the wreckage to the music of the bouzouki, the mandolin-like instrument that actress Melina Mercouri's Never on Sunday introduced to North America.

The crockery and glassware is followed by the tables, chairs and anything else breakable as the excitement mounts. At the end of the evening the customers get the bill.

Spasta began in working-class tavernas but has spread to the fashionable spots. Even the guests at snob hotels indulge at Christmas and Carnival.

Shipping magnate Onassis was a devotee, at least before he married Mrs. John F. Kenne-

FOILS ROBBER

TORONTO (CP) — Susan O'Hara, 19, of Toronto, foiled a would-be robber who tried to snatch a briefcase containing $350 cash she was carrying back to her office from a bank. The money belonged to employees whose cheques she had cashed. Susan said a youth, about 15, ran after "I clobbered him with my right."

DESTRUCTION WELCOMED

The taverna owners welcomed the destruction. They charged what the traffic would bear, as much as $5 a plate.

But that's not the image the conservative colonels now ruling Greece want to give to the world. Police orders against spasta had been ignored in the "suppression of damages bound to provoke public sentiment."

The broken crockery represents the "damages" and the "provoked public sentiment" is the excitement among the revellers.

The law provides imprisonment for up to six months for anyone "who publicly or in an entertainment centre arouses public sentiment by destroying or damaging movable objects, even with the consent of its owner or of those responsible for the centre."

The culprit whose act is "impudent and provocative toward society," is liable to a minimum of three months' imprisonment.

CITY OF KELOWNA NOTICE

Persons wishing oil applications on City lanes for Dust Lay purposes should make application to the Engineering Office on or before FRIDAY, JUNE 13th, 1969, in accordance with City policy as follows:

"Such applications must provide for a continuous minimum length of Three Hundred (300) feet, except when the total length of the lane is less than 300 feet, in which case the total length of the lane must be covered by the application.

Each application must be accompanied by a remittance to pay for the material at the rate of Ten (10¢) Cents per lineal foot of dust lay."

It should be noted that this application is for a dust lay surface treatment only and the resulting surface is not a permanent pavement and is not therefore guaranteed in any way, and that the City reserves the right to carry out whatever surface maintenance procedures are deemed necessary by the Engineering Department.

Nixon Orders Big Clean-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon Tuesday ordered the use of $9,000,000 to help 20 riot-damaged cities start cleanup and repair efforts.

Nixon also called on the department of housing and urban development to accelerate more than $200,000,000 in approved or pending programs aimed at restoring facilities and services in the riot-troubled cities.

Housing Secretary George Romney also announced that he will send survey teams to 20 cities to see what can be done to help clear away rubble and assist in projects to revitalize the riot-damaged areas.

Detroit Plays The Recall Game

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are all playing the safety recall game today.

GM is calling back 12,164 Pontiacs for new steering wheels, Ford is telling the owners of about 13,000 Lincoln Continentals to bring them in for new power steering pressure hoses, and Chrysler says 11 Plymouths and Dodges may have defective front brake hoses.

STRIKE PAY MOVE PROPOSED

School Strike At Kitimat

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Teachers' Federation will be asked to provide strike pay if a threatened walk-out in the Kitimat school district occurs.

A special executive committee of the federation will make the recommendation to the federation's annual meeting in Vancouver today.

The committee, meeting here Monday during the BCTF convention, said a strike in the Kitimat district is imminent following the recent defeat of a referendum to provide operating expenses above the amount set by the provincial government's education finance formula.

The committee also criticized the present requirement that 60 per cent of owner-electors must approve a school referendum. It called the requirement undemocratic and said the restriction against tenants as voters puts the emphasis on property rather than school children.

In a statement, the committee said it "views with considerable alarm the crisis in public education in districts where referenda for operating expenses have failed."

Kitimat is one of seven school districts to turn down budget referendums in recent weeks.

The committee statement also said the forced cut of operating expenses in Kitimat of $384,000 will result in the padlocking of new schools, and the teaching of 300 more pupils by 37 fewer teachers next fall.

BCTF leaders have appealed to Education Minister Donald Brocks to let them know whether he will recommend government support for the seven districts concerned.

The committee recommended

BCTF support for Kitimat teachers; use of BCTF funds for an independent study on learning conditions in Kitimat; in co-operation with the school board; and establishment of a quality education fund to take donations from teachers and associations, for emergency aid to teachers.

The committee will also seek to guarantee loans and credit for teachers who suffer salary losses.

Meanwhile, James Campbell, president of the British Columbia School Trustees Association, said Monday school boards throughout the province are actively campaigning for changes in the school financing formula.

He said the new formula had been a benefit to many school districts by equalizing the cost of education to local taxpayers.

Yard Hunts Stolen Art

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives watched airports and seaports Tuesday for thieves who stole 25 paintings, including six Picassos—from the London apartment of Sir Roland Penrose, a friend of Picasso and owner of Britain's best private collection of modern art.

The paintings, including works by Georges Braque, Marc Chagall and Henry Moore, were valued at more than £300,000 ($780,000).

Scotland Yard's newly-formed art theft squad was recalled from Easter leave and a message was flashed to police abroad through Interpol. Police feared the thieves may have smuggled the pictures out of the country within hours of the raid, which occurred while Penrose was away for an Easter week-end vacation.

Also stolen during the week-end was a tiny masterpiece by Breughel, called Small Landscape. It vanished from the country mansion of Squerries Court in Kent while sightseers were touring the house. It was worth £1,000.

The most famous of the stolen Picasso paintings was Woman Weeping, which Penrose valued at £60,000 to £80,000.

Swiss Blast Kills Nine

AARAU, Switzerland (AP) — An explosives factory blew up Tuesday at the village of Dottikon, killing nine persons and injuring 40 others, police reported.

Within minutes of the blast hundreds of ambulances, fire engines and patrol cars from neighboring centres raced to Dottikon, an industrial village of some 2,000 inhabitants.

The blast was felt 12 miles away in Aarau, and for five miles around it shattered nearly all window panes.

Police headquarters said the explosion blew off roofs and cracked and damaged the walls of several dozen houses in Dottikon. A small forest next to the factory caught fire, but contrary to early reports the only buildings that collapsed were some of those of the explosives company.
